Minister Threatens 'Partisan Politics' Reprisals Teachers Draw Battle Lines

By BILL STAYDAL
Education Reporter

PENTICTON — The government and the B.C. Teachers' Federation are squaring off over a forthcoming BCTF public information campaign on education issues.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson has warned of government retaliation if the

19,000-member teachers' organization enters into partisan politics. (See also Page 14.)

On Wednesday Robert Buzza, outgoing president of the BCTF served notice that the campaign will go ahead anyway with no political alliances.

"As teachers, we have an obligation to inform the public of matters of concern to us in the field of education. This we shall continue to do," he said.

The BCTF's annual general meeting in the Penticton Peach Bowl has drawn about 2,000 teachers. They have been strongly critical of the government.

On Tuesday they voted almost unanimously for a major campaign to inform teachers and the public of the implications of government education policies.

The BCTF will lobby the 1969 session of the legislature, and involve itself in the next provincial election.

A levy of $3 per head will raise about $57,000 from the 19,000 members.

Mr. Peterson who attended a convention banquet Wednesday but did not address the gathering, later was asked his reaction to the teachers' involvement in an election campaign.

He said that if the BCTF engaged in partisan politics he would have to consider "further legislation."

The minister said the government would not allow compulsory membership in an organization which affiliated itself to a political party. He also reminded the teachers of existing legislation which forbids channelling of union dues into a political party.

Robert Buzza, in a Wednesday interview, said:

'Intimidation'

Peterson Rapped By Labor

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Federation of Labor Wednesday branded as intimidation a hint by Education Minister Leslie Peterson of legislation against militant teachers.

"In response to a decision by the B.C. Teachers' Federation to launch a public campaign against recent changes in education financing in the province, Mr. Peterson has threatened ... with reprisals in the form of legislation to weaken the organization," the labor federation said in a statement.

Mr. Peterson, who doubles as labor minister, said in an interview at the teachers' convention in Penticton that the government would act if teachers opposed financing legislation on a partisan political basis.

He said legislation could take the form of not compelling all teachers to belong to the federation.

The interview followed a resolution passed at the convention that called for $57,000 to launch a campaign against school financing methods in use.

War Legality Irrelevant Spock Told

BOSTON (AP)—Dr. Benjamin Spock and four co-defendants charged with counselling young men to evade the U.S. draft were told Wednesday they could not question the legality of the Vietnam war in seeking to have the charges dismissed.

"The legality of the Vietnam war is not a relevant issue in this case," Judge Francis J. W. Ford said at a pre-trial hearing in U.S. district court.

Because of the numerous motions for dismissal filed by lawyers for the five, Judge Ford set time limits on their arguments.

Blaiberg Strides On

World's only successful heart transplant patient, Dr. Phillip Blaiberg is making great strides at his Cape Town home. So confident is he that he is planning a grand tour of Europe with his wife next year. A few months ago he was a dying man, today he is vigorous and active. A further installment in the Blaibergs' own story appears today on Page 32.

Conspiracy Charge Laid in King Slaying

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (CP-AP)—A federal complaint Wednesday charged Eric Starvo Galt, a mysterious white man who has been hunted for a week, with conspiracy in the April 4 sniper assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Five hours later Galt was charged by the state of Tennessee with first degree murder in the death of King.

The FBI complaint charges that Galt and a man who Galt claimed was his brother entered into a conspiracy about March 29 in Birmingham. A warrant for Galt's arrest was issued in Birmingham.

NO DETAILS

There was no indication from the FBI that other persons would be charged with the conspiracy. The second man that Galt said was his brother was not identified, nor charged. No details were given of him.

It was the first word that the FBI had evidence of conspiracy in the death of King, killed by an assassin in Memphis, Tenn., where King had gone to support striking garbage workers.

The federal charge against Galt involves violation of King's civil rights.

MIXED REACTION

But the state warrant charged that Galt "did unlawfully, feloniously, wilfully, deliberately, premeditatedly and of his malice aforethought kill and murder Martin Luther King Jr."

The FBI issued a photograph of Galt which met with mixed reaction from witnesses and persons who had met Galt.

A witness in Memphis said the FBI photograph of the wanted man does not resemble the man seen leaving the scene after the shooting.

'NOT THE MAN'

"Unless he was wearing a wig or had a face lift or something, it's not the man I saw," said Charles Q. Stevens, a resident of the rooming house from which the sniper was believed to have shot King.

The FBI did not indicate when the photograph was made, but a source said it was taken within the last three months.

An Atlanta taxicab driver said an FBI picture he identified as a two-block fare the night after the slaying was different from the one released Wednesday.

"That is definitely not the man I picked up," the cab driver said.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Attorney General Ramsey Clark, who went to Memphis after the slaying of King, announced in a statement released by the FBI that Galt was being sought as a fugitive on the charge of conspiring to injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate King in the exercise of a federal

Missing 46 Days, Man Walks Home

By JEAN MacGREGOR

LAKE COWICHAN—A man, missing for 46 days, who has been the object of a search in two countries, walked out of the woods late Tuesday night, and announced he had been "praying to God."

Lashkar Sing Sall, 35, had been missing since March 1, when he was last seen near the East Indian bunkhouses of Hillcrest Lumber Company, Mesachie Lake, where he lives and works.

Police and tracking dogs were called in six days later, but no trace of him was found. Inquiries were made to airline travel bureaus and to relatives in India, but no one had heard from or seen the heavily-bearded man who vanished wearing a pink turban.

Mr. Lashkar has a family in India, and he has been in Canada for the past nine years. Later in March, Mr. Lashkar's uncle, through officials of Hillcrest Lumber Company, offered a $200 reward for information leading to his whereabouts.

Police said about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday Mr. Lashkar suddenly showed up at the bunkhouse.

Someone told him the police had been searching for him and he telephoned the Lake Cowichan RCMP explaining to them that he had been in the woods for the past six weeks.

A constable at the detachment station said Wednesday, "He does not remember much about what happened to him or where he has been."

"He is very thin and has lost a lot of weight."

"It is difficult to understand why he did not die of exposure or starvation."

The RCMP officer added that Mr. Lashkar will be given a medical examination, and will probably be in hospital for observation for awhile.

Canadian, U.S. Attaches Spying, Says Kremlin

From AP—Reuters

MOSCOW (CP) — The Soviet Union charged Wednesday that a Canadian and five United States military attaches were guilty of "open espionage" at a shipyard and a military base last week. The Canadian and U.S. embassies denied the charges.

The Canadian was identified as Lt.-Col. J. V. Watson, 45-year-old native of Lansing, Ont., and air attaché at the Canadian Embassy.

The incident was the second this year in which Canadian military attaches have been accused of espionage activities in Communist countries.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia charges the six spies on army and naval targets in two separate incidents earlier this month. The article appeared after U.S. and Canadian embassy representatives were called to the Soviet foreign ministry.

Izvestia charges assistant U.S. naval attaché Lt.-Cmdr. Ralph M. Channel, marine Lt.-Col. Wayne E. Richards, Cmdr. Robert R. Hamer and Watson were involved in the first incident April 8 at a shipbuilding yard in Leningrad.

Assistant U.S. army attaches

Lt.-Col. Hugo W. Matson and Lt.-Col. Gerhard L. Jacobson were involved in the second allied incident April 9 at a military base near Borisov in Byelorussia, the newspaper says.

It accuses all six officers of using "Eul language" when Soviet officials intervened.

The U.S. embassy, in its strongest assertion here in years of diplomatic rights, said the attaches' immunity was violated and that the incidents had been "staged."

Precedent indicated the Soviet

Who Will Give Groom Away?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Can you picture a demure bridegroom being paraded down the aisle and the clergyman asking "who gives this man in marriage?"

The question was put Wednesday to the seven members of the royal commission on the status of women by Iva Conboy, a lawyer from Chilliwack with a light-hearted approach to women's problems.

White-haired Mrs. Conboy told the commission's second public hearing women are no longer held back by laws but by attitudes of mind common to women as well as men.

"If a woman is not a chattel why give her away in marriage?" she asked to chuckles and cries of "hear, hear" from an audience of 75 Vancouver women and about six men.

"Many of the customs that go with marriage were invented when Abraham was a nomad." (See also Page 15.)

She said women should stop "obliterating their identities" by taking their husbands' names in marriage and called for an end to distinctions between Miss and Mrs.

"Can you imagine Judy LaMarsh getting married and giving up her own name?" the lawyer asked.

Mrs. Conboy's remarks brought delighted approval from commissioner Elsie MacGill, an aeronautical engineer from Toronto who is married to business executive E. J. Soulsby.

"I carry my maiden name and I always have," Miss MacGill said. "I never use my husband's name."

Three Missing In Korean Clash

SEOUL (UPI)—A band of 20 North Korean agents staged a surprise attack on a group of 11 South Korean soldiers patrolling the central sector of the Korean demilitarized zone Wednesday, South Korean military authorities announced Thursday. Three South Korean soldiers were reported missing.

Golf Club Swing Kills Girl

ROSWELL, B.C. (CP)—An 11-year-old Cranbrook girl was killed Wednesday near this southeastern British Columbia community when struck on the head by a golf club swung by a young companion.

Police said Jerri-Ann Dixon and a friend were playing with the club in a field near the summer home of the girl's grandparents. They described the death as accidental.

'Aging' Trudeau Close To Cabinet Completion

By RON COLLISTER

OTTAWA (Special) — Pierre-Elliott Trudeau, now officially two years older than he was last week, will complete his first cabinet in the next 24 hours.

Several key people in the draft cabinet have still to give him their final decisions.

Robert Winters, former trade minister, has been offered the trade and industry portfolios blended into one.

It is a toss of a coin whether or not he accepts or goes back into lucrative private business.

The solid speculation is that Paul Martin will switch from external to justice, en route to the bench.

Mitchell Sharp will switch from finance to external, and Edgar Benson, president of the treasury board, will become finance minister.

Several new faces may join the cabinet, including British Columbia's Ron Basford and Toronto's Don Macdonald. Another opening was made Wednesday with the resignation of Solicitor-General Larry Pennell.

Trudeau arrived back in Ottawa Wednesday after a weekend vacation in Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

While he was away, official records showed that he was 48, not 46, as claimed by his organizers during the leadership convention.

Trudeau was asked why he had not done something to correct the record of his age.

"I have never given my age," he replied. "But people have picked it up right and left."

He said he may not have told anyone his age.

'Aging' Trudeau

... but I am prepared to stand by any official record."

The mystery of Trudeau's age caused plenty of fun on Parliament Hill.

Prime Minister Pearson said he was sure how old he was and when his birthday is — next week.

10 YEARS YOUNGER

Transport Minister Paul Hellyer offered that he felt 10 years younger than at the convention.

Benson was asked how his "son" was.

On his secret holiday in Florida, Trudeau had registered at a hotel as Edgar Benson.

"Did you know he was 48 at the time?" A reporter asked Benson, who is three years younger.

"Excuse me, fellas," said Benson, brushing past them with a trapped smile.

Later, Trudeau was visited by a string of candidates for his cabinet.

The Pearson-Trudeau turnover takes place on Monday. Wednesday he attended what may have been his last cabinet meeting before taking office.

However, Pearson said there may be one more before he steps out: "Don't push me out too soon," he joked with reporters, looking as happy as a man should look on the verge of comfortable retirement.

On the agenda was the Quebec-Ottawa split over Quebec's role at an international conference in Paris next week.

Pearson said the cabinet had not decided what to do about it, but he believed there would be a solution.

SEE WHAT HAPPENS

Trudeau said he did not believe it would result in a break in diplomatic relations with France: "Not in the light of circumstances now," he said. "We will see what happens next week. But now, there is no reason to contemplate that."

Trudeau has turned down the idea of a deputy prime minister.

The possibility that this post would be at the root of a feud between the supporters of Mitchell Sharp and Robert Winter, about who was owed most by the prime minister-elect and who should fill it.

CERTAIN MADNESS

Spring plus the arrival of the Trudeau era has brought a certain madness to Parliament Hill.

On Wednesday, an Ottawa high school girl, 17-year-old Gail Fitzpatrick, playing hockey, rushed up to Trudeau and asked if she could kiss him.

"Why not?" he replied. "It's spring."

"She reported that the experience was 'fantastic,' that nothing had changed because Trudeau was two years older, and that she had never felt the same impulse to kiss the outgoing prime minister, Lester Pearson."

Bill Thomas On Sick List

Four Murdered

SONORA, Tex. (AP) — Four persons, one a child, died of stab wounds and beatings on a lonely stretch of West Texas cattle country highway apparently early Wednesday.

Two children, gravely wounded, survived the slaughter but were so small it appeared unlikely that even the elder could aid investigating officers.

Your Good Health

Pills Not Recommended

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss the "stay-awake" pills taken by college students. Do they really help, or are they harmful and habit-forming? —T.C.

Well, they'll keep people from going to sleep, but there is a question whether this pill-induced wakefulness leaves people in the best condition to learn and understand.

Some of the pills can be dangerous.

My advice is to depend on nothing stronger than coffee to stay awake.

Just about all the accomplished teachers I know say that these late-at-night cramming sessions for exams really don't do much good anyway. If a student hasn't learned his subject during the regular term, he can't do much to help himself by staying up all night before the finals. Efficiency can be greatly reduced by such enforced wakefulness. Sometimes he's so groggy at exam time that he'd have done better by getting a decent night's sleep instead.

Dear Dr. Molner: I understand that some "health" diets advocate taking a spoonful of two of oil every day, perhaps vegetable or mineral oil as health aid. I thought our American diet was too rich in oil and fats as it is. However, my informant (not an MD) was pretty definite about taking it, along with other foods. Are there cases in which it is helpful? —N.H.

Nothing's sure except that we will always have death, taxes, and health food nuts.

Yes, our diet tends to be much higher than necessary in fats and oils, and unless a person is low in fats (an unusual circumstance) there would be no point in vegetable oils. As to mineral oil, that isn't absorbed, hence adds nothing to nutrition and it can, by absorbing and carrying away Vitamin A, deplete our supply of that.

Let your friend ride that diet hobby; just stick to a well-balanced diet yourself and forget "health food" fads.

Dear Dr. Molner: Re: Late teething baby.

My daughter cut her first tooth at 18 months. The other teeth followed right away, and she has passed the other babies (in the number of teeth) who started teething before she did. There was no deficiency. Tell the grandmother not to worry. It's probably nothing at all. —Mrs. J.C.

I hope grandmother is reading the paper today.

Teachers Draw

we have a point of view and we will express it."

He took the floor at the opening of Wednesday's session to deliver a statement clarifying the intent of the BCTF.

"Our objectives are educational objectives, not political objectives," he said. "Let there be no mistake about this."

The BCTF has three main aims, he said. Promotion of the cause of education, raising the status of teachers and promoting their welfare.

"The fact that this is a non-partisan organization is a source of pride," he said. "No political party in this province controls or will control the decisions made by us at our annual general meeting."

He said the BCTF has a responsibility of taking a position on educational affairs.

"If such a position in and of itself is damaging to the government of the day, so be it," he said.

"It would be naive to claim that our actions as an organization have no political impact. They do and will have."

"But the bases for our actions are educational not political."

Support of the teachers' stand poured into Penicton by telegraph during the day. BCTF president Robert Buzza said nearly all of the telegrams he had received were in favor of the teachers.

Peter Bunn, chairman of the Greater Victoria school board, and John Bartanus, chairman of the Sooke school board, wired their congratulations.

"We are proud of you," said Mr. Bunn.

Mr. Bartanus said: "Your decision to launch a public campaign protesting school construction slowdown and the new education finance formula is the most significant contribution made by anyone to the future development and prosperity of this province. Congratulations."

The B.C. Federation of Labor said it "fully supports your federation's right by democratic decision to enlist public support against any legislation."

"The minister's reaction to still any voice of dissent is similar to what he has done to trade unions in the past."

"We are gravely concerned about the attitude of this government toward democratic rights and we will continue to fight to preserve the right of any organization to express itself politically."

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Vietnam Talks Prospects Dim

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam, its tone seeming to harden, rejected Wednesday as inadequate the sites proposed by the United States for preliminary talks on the Vietnam war.

A Hanoi broadcast once again said world opinion demanded the Americans stop creating "difficulties" in the selection of a meeting place. It coupled this statement with a reassertion of its stand that if the United States really wanted peace it should immediately halt all air raids over North Vietnam, withdraw troops from South Vietnam and "let the Vietnamese people settle their own affairs."

The broadcast coincided with disclosure in Tokyo that Japan had informally asked the Soviet Union to help arrive at an early decision on selection of a site for the talks. The request was made by Foreign Minister Takeo Miki at a meeting on another subject with Soviet Ambassador Oleg Troyanovsky.

The Soviet envoy was reported to have replied non-committally that the Soviet Union also was "looking forward to early peace" in Vietnam.

In Rawalpindi, Pakistan, visiting Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin urged in a speech that the United States accept Hanoi's proposals, stop all bombing and acts of war against North Vietnam as a "necessary first step to a settlement," and enter "immediately" into peace talks. The speech seemed to reflect a Soviet anxiety to get the peace talks machinery moving.

At the United Nations in New York, a UN spokesman said Secretary-General U Thant and U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg had discussed Tuesday several possible sites "likely to be acceptable to both Washington and Hanoi," and that Thant was in touch with Hanoi on this matter. The spokesman declined to name the prospective sites but pointed out that Paris was among the places Thant had suggested to a Hanoi representative in France. Much diplomatic speculation centres on Paris as a compromise location.

Mideast: Zero

CAIRO (Reuters) — Results achieved so far by Gunnar Jarring, United Nations Middle East envoy, are zero and nothing more can be hoped for at present, Egypt said Wednesday.

Egyptian Foreign Minister, Mahmoud Riad said the Swedish diplomat has produced no new formula for settling the crisis in the region.

Jarring, who met Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban in Jerusalem, Tuesday, could report no change in Israel's attitude. Jarring later left for his Nicotia, Cyprus, headquarters.

Sound Sense

FORMER ALDERMAN GEOFFREY EDGELOW'S brief to city council which calls for a 1 per cent increase in Victoria's business tax this year to finance the operation of a convention bureau has apparently triggered a major hassle between the Chamber of Commerce and the Victoria Visitors' Bureau.

This is unfortunate because both organizations are made up in the main by Victoria businessmen—in fact, there is considerable duplication of membership—and both are dedicated to the purpose of improving the city's economy.

The difference of opinion between the Chamber and the Visitors' Bureau resulted from the impression gained from the brief that city businessmen as a whole supported the suggestion of a hike in the business tax. The Chamber, which represents the majority of businessmen in Victoria, has been quick to deny that this is the case and points out that the brief has not yet been presented to either the general membership, the board or the executive committee for consideration.

However, this quick and reasonable clarification of the chamber's position in the matter by its president, Mr. William Armstrong, has resulted in some harsh condemnation of the chamber by President Stan Booker of the Visitors' Bureau.

Mr. Booker claims that the general membership of the chamber "was solidly in favor" of an increase in business tax in 1965 and implies that this is all the authority the chamber needs now to support the proposed measure.

He adds that in spite of this backing by the general membership "the executive changed that decision to suit themselves saying they had no mandate, no precedent and that they shouldn't be advocating tax increases anyway."

In the interests of fair play and further clarification Mr. Booker should know that he has his facts wrong. In the first place the 1965 tax increase proposal was made in order to increase the working budget of the Visitors' Bureau and had nothing to do with the establishment of a convention office.

The idea of upping the business tax at that time came directly from the mayor's office and the chamber was requested to sound out local businessmen on the matter. Of the 670 chamber members polled only 10 replies were returned, four in favor and six against.

The matter was then referred to the board of directors who quite properly rejected the proposition on the grounds that the members' response could not be interpreted as approval, that other municipalities would be benefitting but not paying and that insufficient research had been done by the Visitors' Bureau to support its claim that it needed another $30,000 in order to survive.

All this, of course, does not in any way reverse the chamber's view that a convention centre is a necessity for this city. However, it appears that it may harbor some doubt as to whether an increase in the already high taxes levied against Victoria city businessmen is the best way of financing such an enterprise.

A major project such as this demands considerable and careful study and though much has been done much still remains to be done.

At this stage of the game the chamber should be congratulated for its stand on the matter. Rather than being accused of "pussyfooting" as one Esquimalt hotel keeper (who would not be affected by the proposed tax increase) charged, the chamber should be praised for displaying sound common sense.

Careless Talk

DURING THE LAST WORLD WAR great stress was laid upon the necessity for guarded speech. People concerned with the assembly and departure of ocean convoys, for example, were constantly reminded of the danger of "careless talk," although it was perfectly evident to anyone interested in informing an enemy that ships were assembling. Their departure was equally apparent.

It was a trifle ridiculous, perhaps, that no one was supposed to breathe a word about the identity of a great liner while she sat for days in the Esquimalt drydock. She towered above her pigmy surroundings, supposedly invisible.

There were many instances of secrecy well preserved, however. The capabilities of radar, of submarine detection apparatus, of pin-pointing navigational aids, of bomb sights and a hundred other weapons and pieces of equipment were long and successfully disguised and remained for the enemy a matter of guesswork.

Possibly the best kept secret of the war was the assembly of that vast armada in the ports of Britain immediately preceding the invasion of Normandy.

It was obviously vital to the success of the Allies that their plans, as well as their strength, should be denied to the watchful enemy. It might have been thought this was a lesson well learned by all.

It is astonishing, therefore, when American news media come out with information about strength and strategy which in any other country would be highly classified.

It must be gratifying to the North Vietnamese commanders to know exactly what reinforcements are on their way to the war zone, their numbers as well as their identity. It must be comforting to know precisely the results of a mortar bombardment. And it might be helpful to have advance notice of planned military operations, their weight and target. Yet these useful items are reported, and many more besides, to an avid public, apparently without thought of what aid they may give to opposing forces.

The latest disclosure of a new weapon, developed to destroy anti-aircraft arms, must be some sort of a record in indiscretion. It is called "Zap," an acronym for "zero anti-aircraft potential." The despatch from Washington says details of the missile's capabilities are closely guarded, and goes on to describe the more essential of them.

By now, it can be surmised, interested parties are planning their defence against the "hypervelocity" rocket and by the time it is operational much of its effectiveness could be lost.

We must not presume to teach the Americans the business of war, where their proficiency is apparent to all, but in the matter of prudent control of military information theirs is an example this country would be ill-advised to follow.

Washington Calling

Massive Spending the Only Remedy

By MARQUIS CHILDS

IT is hardly a coincidence that garbage workers' strikes in two U.S. cities thus far this year have caused havoc. New York went almost to the point of breakdown as mountains of refuse accumulated and the dispute between Mayor John V. Lindsay and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller over a settlement did Rockefeller's reputation no good.

The garbage strike in Memphis brought Martin Luther King Jr. to the city to help the strikers gain recognition for their union and a living wage. In the first march that King led marchers were clubbed indiscriminately by Memphis police, according to eyewitnesses, after rampaging young Negroes started disorders.

The garbage workers had been on strike since Feb. 12. Mayor Henry Loeb, rated by officials here dealing with race relations as one of the most inflexible and narrow among mayors of principal cities, and the city council were intractable. For the workers, virtually all Negroes, this was the story of the white-power structure yielding nothing to what they felt were demands for minimum justice.

Loeb and the city council can hardly be blamed because a mad racist assassinated a world-renowned civil rights leader. King's life had been repeatedly threatened in city after city. Yet the fact remains that if he had not gone to Memphis in response to an appeal from the strikers he would not have been murdered and large areas of Washington, Chicago, Baltimore and Pittsburgh would not be in ruins. While that was the trigger it can be argued that, given the deep underlying unrest, hatred and disaffection in the ghettos, another incident might have served the same end.

Garbage workers are at the bottom of the pay scale. But teachers, policemen, firemen and other civil servants are not much higher on the scale. The mentors of the future and the guardians of public security, at the very heart of the life of the U.S. city, are underpaid and overworked, their ranks constantly depleted by the lure of higher pay and shorter hours.

Teachers' strikes in a half-dozen states showed that the breaking point has been reached in many areas. There will be more such strikes as the pressure of rising living costs bears down on those whose bargaining power is severely limited.

One of the few public figures to put this frankly was Gov. George Romney before he withdrew from the presidential race. He talked cogently about how public servants and workers in other defenceless categories were caught between the upper millstone of the monopolistic corporation with little or no restraint on prices and the nether millstone of monopolistic trade unions. High-school teachers were being paid less than plumbers with their six or seven or eight dollars an hour.

Romney's remedy has a quick sound — break up the big corporations and the mass trade unions so that prices and wages can be determined in a free market. The trend is just the opposite, with bigger and bigger conglomerates in every field. As for government intervention, trust-busting sounds today like a mythology out of the remote past. The department of justice makes a gesture here and there but the penalties seem in relation to the wealth of the giant corporations hardly more than a tap on the wrist.

The obvious remedy is higher wages for civil servants in every category. The police are blamed for brutality and repressive measures on the one hand and for laxity when a riot breaks out. Superior recruits can hardly be expected to respond to starting salaries of $6,500 with only slow advancement to $8,000 and $9,000. President Johnson's admirable program to provide training and better organization for the United States' police forces was largely frustrated when Congress insisted on giving the states authority to spend the funds as they see fit. Higher wages mean higher taxes and that is the most sensitive nerve. Tax resources in the core cities where services are most urgently needed are drying up as well-paid blue-collar workers join the exodus of white-collar workers to the suburbs. In city after city, bond issues to provide schools and other public facilities are voted down despite the plaintive appeal of hard-pressed civic leaders.

In the aftermath of the riots the prescription of the riots commission is still writ large. Only massive federal spending can begin to solve a condition that threatens the very existence of a free people.

Detroit and Newark should have been warning enough. The president let that moment of crisis pass. If now with Washington, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Baltimore, Congress does not act, if the president does not make the case for immediate action, then the enemies of a free America at home and abroad will be proved right. Apartheid, a walled ghetto, was the fearful prospect the commission held out.

Geology in the U.S.S.R.

A Glamorous Profession

By DEV MURARKA from Moscow

THE Soviet Union is probably unique in dedicating a public holiday to its geologists. Every first Sunday in April is Soviet geologists' day and their achievements are celebrated in print and in festivities all over the country.

There are sound reasons for this fuss made over them. After all, the work of geologists has contributed mightily to the wealth of the Soviet Union, which is, comparatively speaking, still an under-explored country. Soviet geologists are, therefore, at once the pioneers of the Soviet West, or what would be termed here more appropriately the Frozen North, and some of the few romantics in a scientific profession.

Geology is not, of course, new in Russia. As a science and academic discipline it took roots in the 19th century and Tsarist Russia produced some very brilliant and distinguished geologists. Its phenomenal growth, however, is a post-revolutionary development, part of the all-out drive begun to industrialize the country and to use its natural wealth.

The resources devoted to training geologists in the Soviet Union can be guessed from the fact that some 4,000 graduates in the subject are turned out every year from specialized institutes. The Geological Service, under a separate ministry of geology, employs 500,000 people. This excludes thousands of other workers and specialists employed in mining, oil, gas and other industries which require a geological training.

The large sums spent on training geologists, however, have proved a very rewarding investment. As a result of their exploration work, the known deposits of Soviet minerals wealth have steadily expanded. Last year alone Soviet geologists discovered what the authorities call 130 major new deposits of oil, gas, iron and molybdenum ores, non-ferrous and rare metals and gold. Soviet geologists are also being sent abroad for survey and prospecting work in those countries which receive Soviet aid.

such as India, Pakistan, Iran and many others.

It is also true that geology seems to attract a very large number of young people, some of them very talented. This cannot be explained by the lure of wealth since Soviet geology is no Klondike Gold Rush. Whatever they explore and find is developed by the state.

Nor can it be said it is easy work since they live and work often under very difficult conditions, far from the comforts of city life.

What attracts young Soviet talent to geology is something psychological. It is a job which gives them unbounded freedom of outdoor life; the Russians by nature are fond of the outdoors.

It is also something of an adventurer into the unknown. He is as likely to be asked to work in the burning deserts of Central Asia as high up in the snow-covered valleys of the Caucasian mountains. He is to be found in the cold, frosty and windy Siberian pine forests and the marshy plains of North Russia.

What also attracts the young is the work in small groups, leading a camping life with rough transport and long treks. An important factor, which lessens the rigor and loneliness of such a life is that a fairly large number of Soviet geologists are women. Indeed a group of them on an assignment are more likely than not to be mixed.

The bug of the outdoor life bites some of them so hard that even the rigor of a Siberian winter do not deter them. A great deal of the work in the Soviet Union is now carried out in the Far East with temperatures below minus 60 degrees Centigrade in winter and amid the howling winds of Siberia.

It is a way of life from which they do not want to part. They work hard but they also enjoy themselves. In the summer months a jeep carrying a group of young people, singing jolly and even bawdy songs, is more likely to be a party of geologists than of holidaymakers.

Curiously enough, despite the rigors of their work and living and their isolation Soviet geologists are particularly noted for their breadth of outlook and cultivated sense of enjoyment. It is not surprising that quite a few younger writers are emerging from among their ranks.

Their romanticism finds an outlet in their field-work and their spirit is not curbed as in some other scientific professions. They are honored members of society but, as wanderers in the boundless expanse of their country, the demands of society sit lightly on them.

Consequently even the rebellious and the sensitive seem able to accommodate themselves in the profession. It is, of course, only a minority among Soviet geologists who are so gifted; but this minority has succeeded in endowing the profession with glamour for the young.

I Beg to Differ

In Debt to Pierre

By FRANK LOWE

PIERRE Elliott Trudeau will be our next prime minister. But even if he were not, I figure I owe him a lot.

After all, during the past few weeks Pierre Elliott Trudeau has made me feel young again. Prior to the Trudeau phenomenon, there were occasions when I realized I was no longer a kid. Once in a while, for heaven's sake, I found the phrase "middle-aged" cropping up in the conversation.

In other words, I was not only becoming conscious of my age. I was afraid I was showing it.

Then along came Pierre. Newspapers, TV commentators, radio pundits embraced him with such descriptions as "young" and "youthful" and "dynamic." Pierre's installation at 24 Sussex street, so the lyrics read, would mean a "new era."

His presence in the No. 1 seat in the House of Commons would assure this country "a new look."

With Pierre we would shed our middle-aged image. The country would respond to the freshness, imagination and panache of youth. Youth, glorious youth.

All this added bounce to my step and verve to my vision. Because, would you believe it? Pierre Elliott Trudeau and I are the same age.

So, for a few weeks at least, I have been young again. Yes, sir, after all these years of being bowed under the weight of realizing that anyone over 30 is barely breathing, and anyone over 40 belongs to a generation

Uneasy Partnership

Japan Is Cautious In World Politics

By ROBERT BETTS

(Last of four articles)

JAPAN'S economic boom has brought a resurgence of national self-confidence. The massive inferiority complex of the immediate postwar years has been replaced by pride of achievement. Within two decades Japan has progressed from a defeated, shattered nation to third biggest producer of goods that the world needs.

But as politicians, particularly in the field of foreign affairs, the Japanese are less sure of themselves. Not that Japan has stood still diplomatically. But its growing international involvement has been more a matter of widening business contacts and winning markets for its thriving export industry.

It treads especially warily in Asia. Conscious of lingering distrust among people who still remember Japanese military aggression, it is anxious not to be accused of exercising undue political influence through economic aggression.

Yet there are many at home who think Tokyo should now be using more forceful diplomacy, backed by more military power. Some would even like to see Japan following France's example and building its own nuclear force independent of U.S. protection.

Alarm over Communist China's detonation of a nuclear device increased this feeling. Japan is moving forward rapidly in the development of nuclear power and rocketry. In 15 years it may be the world's leading producer of nuclear energy. If it did decide to become a nuclear power, weapons could be produced within an estimated two years.

With the old enemy China now brandishing a nuclear bomb, it is high time Japan, most technologically advanced nation in Asia, had one of its own, Japan nationalists argue.

Opposing them are anti-militarists who say the best way to stay out of trouble is to avoid armament buildup and military alliances. They consist of genuine, war-weary, atom bomb-shocked pacifists, active anti-Western leftists and the Communist right with their bogus "neutrality" slogan.

In between is a vast body which would be content to remain under the U.S. "umbrella" of guaranteed security and nuclear protection, enabling Japan to go on building prosperity without having to worry too much about defence expenditure.

While the government has shown a greater willingness to take on the burden of its own sea and air defence, every proposal for military expansion is attacked by the lively and vociferous left as a treacherous sellout of the nation to "U.S. imperialist warmongers."

Japan's ambassador to Washington, Takeo Shimoda, admitted to an American audience recently that although Japan has recovered economically from the war, it still suffers psychological after-effects, and consequently has adopted a policy of "earn money but stay out of trouble."

It is this "don't rock the boat" attitude and lack of dynamic leadership which have allowed Japan to remain politically stable since the Second World War. The country has been busy recovering from the shock of total defeat and foreign occupation, building democracy under U.S. guidance, coping with problems of economic recovery and rapid industrialization. The politicians who replaced the prewar military and imperial household elites have had little time to rise above domestic squabbles and challenge each other on life and death issues which engage the world powers.

The conservative Liberal-Democratic government which has ruled for 20 years has held to a policy of passive dependence on U.S. power while concentrating on economic growth at home.

But rising dissent among the people is now beginning to be reflected in the political scene. For the first time since the war, the conservatives won less than 50 per cent of the popular vote in the general elections of January, 1967. Despite their majority in the Diet (277 seats out of a total of 486) they are more dependent than before on bargaining with the opposition.

The opposition parties have been unable so far to agree on a united front. Leading the opposition are the Socialists, with 140 seats. They are against rearmament and call for abolition of the U.S.-Japan security treaty. The Democratic-Socialists come next with 30 seats. They want "gradual abolition" of the treaty, admission of Red China to the United Nations and socialization of key industries. Independents hold nine seats and Communists five.

The Komito (Clean Government) Party, which entered candidates for the first time last year, won 25 seats. It is the political arm of the Soka Gakkai, a Buddhist sect, which claims 15 million members. It stands ostensibly for "world neutrality" and its Diet representatives usually support the Socialists.

The Soka Gakkai is said to serve more as an uplifting social club than a political body, and affords a more acceptable, less emotional outlet for frustrated students. Japan's student movement is fragmented into right-wing and left-wing groups. Young Communists are divided among themselves, a reflection of the Sino-Soviet schism.

Leftist demonstrators and riot ringleaders are commonly identified with the All-Japan Federation of Student Councils, or Zengakuren, a body founded by Japanese Communists in 1948. The riots at the approval of the revised U.S.-Japan treaty in June, 1960, which caused the cancellation of former President Eisenhower's visit, was the work of this organization. It now has members in all of Japan's 750 universities and is preparing more trouble as the time approaches for the next review of the treaty in 1970.

Tokyo's government leaders maintain that the Western, anti-militarist and pro-Communist element is not truly representative of the Japanese people and does not control Japan's destiny.

Ambassador Shimoda said, "Japan has come to realize that it must cease being a silent onlooker of world affairs and must now assume a more positive role proportionate to its economic strength."

As national confidence grows so does the desire to assert national independence. The popular attitude today indicates an eagerness to escape from the shadow of U.S. power and influence to prove that Japan is not an American satellite.

There are still some who would like to have their cake and eat it, while the United States goes on footing the bill. They would be happy to have their national security assured and paid for by others with minimum risk to themselves, but without what they feel to be the humiliating presence of foreign defenders.

Others think this is a dishonorable attitude. They are unhappy to see Japan playing a subordinate role in the world affairs and believe that changes will have to be made.

Those on the far right who say Japan must stop relying on U.S. protection, should provide its own defence and build its own bomb are looked at askance by many outside of their own country who have cause to fear the resurgence of the military in a land that knew military supremacy for centuries.

Even in Washington, where encouragement is given to Japan to raise its defence outlay and go in for more sophisticated weapons, there are doubts whether a strongly armed, independent Japan would work to U.S. interests in Asia.

It would prefer to see the Japanese continuing in a general partnership for mutual defence in which costs, risks and responsibilities are shared.

The Japanese are told by their present government leaders that if Japan is to have the bigger voice in international affairs that they want, they must be ready to assume some of those sacrifices, risks and responsibilities.

Have World's Values Lost Their Meaning?

It is a commonplace that we live in a chaos of values. In fact, we may now be experiencing something deeper: a weakening of trust that our world is a benevolent place wherein our values can have meaning and effect.

By LAWRENCE WALKER
Assistant professor of history at the University of Southern California

Men have not always thought the world a benign place. St. Augustine, living in the age of the Roman Empire's disintegration, separated the "City of God" from the "City of Man."

The "City of God," made up of those living and dead who had attained salvation, had a role in the drama of the universe. The "City of Man," man's polity of earth, suffered disasters which were no part of the divine drama of salvation.

Although the world was not a pleasant place, there was at least a benevolent design to the universe.

The achievement of modern times, if it be one, was to secularize this view of the universe and empty it of its religious content.

For the men of the Enlightenment the world might not be benevolent place, but it could be made so through the application of reason and energy to the tasks of reform and enlightenment.

These men largely dispensed with the other world. The drama to be played out was in this world, and all success or failure came to rest in the world.

Unfortunately for that view — the liberal or predominant view of Western culture — the idea of progress on earth has been taking a considerable beating in the present century. This outlook has received severe shocks from events and from the continued and ever increasing difficulty of problems.

Two world wars and three great totalitarian revolutions have done much to shake confidence in the power of reason.

Nazi totalitarianism shocked its contemporaries because it demonstrated what could happen when men discarded traditional values and set out to establish a radical new morality, in this case the will of the Volk.

Stalin, meanwhile, acted out the implications of Lenin's moral dictum (that the only moral standard was that whatever furthered the "revolution" was good, and whatever hindered the "revolution" was bad) by eliminating whole classes and categories of people who stood in the way of social transformation. There came to many a shocking recognition that the confident view of man and his progress had drastically underestimated man's capacities for evil.

At the same time, the once comfortable world imagined by science had given way in the early 20th century to a fuller realization of the indifference to nature to man.

With quantum theory, commonsense categories of thought could no longer be relied upon when dealing with the smallest bits of matter.

This crumbling of science as a reliable source of confidence, combined with the undercutting of fixed ethical values by the advance of comparative anthropology and historical relativism, led a number of intellectuals to despair.

From despair they attempted to find a refuge in existentialism, which accepted the aloneness of man in the universe and gave to each individual the awesome responsibility of fashioning his own morality.

Not many people are subject to extreme existentialist despair. What has more impact at the moment and threatens our trust in the world is the realization that many problems we assumed to be soluble have proved intractable.

We have largely solved the great economic and social problem of the last generation, unemployment, only to find that we now have a segment of our youth which has no intention to work.

The hippies fascinate us because we sense in them a shedding of repression, and that has its appeal. Yet we are uneasy. There is an insatiable quality about the mood of the youth fringes, new left or hippie.

There is much emphasis upon demands, little on responsible work and postponed gratification. We begin to sense how much our society has depended upon internal controls and self-imposed limitations.

The youth fringes talk in terms which we recognize — individualism, creative self-expression, love — but fail to hold these goals in some sort of balance with the obligations to the large community. Patriotism is a case in point.

In the past, individualism has been held in balance with patriotism by the assumption that somehow the two went together. But when individualism is pushed to extreme egotism, any restraints and inconveniences imposed upon the individual become intolerable.

Perhaps the mood has been long in the making and we are all participants in it. But where is the individual or the group willing to see his or its interests slighted, even temporarily, for the benefit of the whole?

Where is the confidence that justice will in the end prevail and the balance be righted? It seems often that each group and each individual is out to seize and consume all within reach, as though no trust can be put in the future, and as though we are not part of one community with ongoing concerns for justice.

Budgets may be balanced, but the uneasy feeling grows that primitive desires have been unleashed and that a little improvement will fail to meet ever-rising expectations. Something has happened to the acceptance of restraints and limitations as a part of the human condition.

Another aspect of the problem is revealed in the eruption in the United States of urban riots, which have demonstrated among other things how suddenly internal and external controls can collapse. The problem of keeping public order has been immensely complicated by the casting off of individual internal controls, and we begin to sense their importance as they pass.

Where are the solutions to these problems? It is a commonplace that ours is an age of complexity. A feature of the age of complexity has been the passing of the age of simplicity, of simple solutions — an end of ideology. For that we can be thankful.

Yet ideologies are irrelevant precisely because it is obvious that our problems have no simple solutions.

There is no escaping responsibility and moral choices, individually or as a people. The problem is that we are so ill-equipped to make moral choices and so paralyzingly aware that all choices are complex and that the important ones involve choices of greater or lesser evil.

St. Augustine was confident that God must have allowed evil to exist in order to bring good out of it. Having once regarded the world as perfectible and having failed to perfect it, we have no such acceptance of evil, and have weakened trust either in another world or in this.

Of all the complexities of this age, the one we are least equipped to face is that of making moral choices without benefit either of a trust in the proper order of the universe, or in the predictability or progress.

Vietnam Talks Bid Off on Wrong Foot

By JOSEPH KRAFT, from Washington

Talks with Hanoi may still get under way soon. But plainly they are starting on the wrong foot.

For just when it was useful to build confidence, a series of incidents on the Washington end have intensified suspicion and mistrust on the other side. And these incidents have called into question anew the controversial role of President Johnson's special assistant for national security affairs, Walt W. Rostow.

A good example of the incidents in question arises from the search for a high-ranking official to back up Ambassador W. Averell Harriman who will do the actual negotiating with the other side.

Some such official was sought in part because, at 76, Harriman is not young; but mainly because the Vietnam hawks inside the administration feel that, in his eagerness to get talks going, Harriman has become soft on the other side.

Originally, in his March 31 speech, President Johnson designated the American ambassador to Moscow, Llewellyn Thompson, to work with Harriman. But it soon became plain that naming the ambassador to Moscow would tend to identify the Soviet Union with the American position at a time when the Russians need to show they are not in collusion with Washington in order to have influence in Hanoi.

Thompson, accordingly, has now been replaced by the former deputy secretary of defense, Cyrus Vance. But meanwhile, the Russians and the North Vietnamese have been given the impression that the United States is trying to use the talks to drive a wedge between Hanoi and Moscow.

Another incident along the same lines arises from the debate over a site for talks. Because Johnson had repeatedly said in the past that he would meet at any time and any place with representatives of the other side, the United States is obviously in an awkward position to quibble.

Still, there was a case to be made against sites where the absence of an American diplomatic mission would seriously impair communications. And that case obviously applied to Hanoi's first suggestion that the talks take place in Phnom Penh, the capital of Cambodia.

The case did not apply to the second suggestion — the suggestion of Warsaw. But by last week, the hardliners in the administration had been reinforced by optimistic reports on conditions in South Vietnam made by Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and General William Westmoreland during their recent visits to Washington.

Accordingly, Warsaw was refused, on the grounds that it was not a neutral capital and that the suggestion was broached by Hanoi through a news agency rather than in the best diplomatic form.

Hanoi has now contrasted that reply with Johnson's blanket offer to meet anywhere. As a result, the United States' good faith is being held up to scorn at precisely the time when the American interest is to have its pledges of peaceful intent taken seriously.

Responsibility for these and other incidents has tended to be focused on Rostow for two reasons. First, as the special assistant for national security, he is technically responsible for managing foreign affairs business inside the government in a smooth way and without visible strains or bloopers.

Moreover, he is known to be a strong partisan of the hard line, long persuaded that the United States could achieve something like victory in Vietnam, and highly skeptical about negotiations with the other side.

Both inside and outside the administration, the feeling has grown that, in the intensity of advocating the hard line, Rostow has not been meticulous about protecting the president against the consequences of hasty appointments or loose wording.

Two suggestions, accordingly, have been advanced for shaping up the management of the negotiating process. One is to set up a special office in the White House headed by a man trusted by the president but not previously identified with one position or another on Vietnam.

The second is to move detailed, day-to-day management of negotiations out of the White House and into the Pentagon or the State Department.

In fact, the purpose of these suggested reforms can be achieved without any of the recommended shuffles. The major requirement is that the president have confidence in the officials of his administration, that he stop being suspicious and secretive to the point of not even revealing his purpose to those charged with operational tasks.

For the lesson of the incidents, indeed the lesson of the past five years, is that the one-man presidency does not work.

The Things People Say

I sometimes wonder why we Americans enjoy punishing ourselves with self-criticism. I am not saying we never had it so good—but that's the truth, isn't it?—President Johnson.

You can get a good press secretary without any trouble. The real problem is to get a good man to drive your car.

In the campaign. — Senator Eugene McCarthy.

One day, before I die, something may arouse me to such an extent that I shall be forced to go and speak in the House of Lords.—Lord Huntly.

One can't say whether bachelorhood is better than marriage, until one has experienced both. And then it is too late for regrets.—Jeremy Thorpe.

Most of these youths are simply sublimating other instincts. Is not the answer to introduce more women students in the universities? — Lady Summerkill.

Inco Planning Split

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

The executive officers of International Nickel of Canada are proposing the common shares of the company be split 2½ to one and the present dividend rate increased.

The proposal goes before the board of directors May 6, and if approved, will be dealt with at a special general meeting of its 64,000 shareholders in July. Inco's present 70-cent quarterly dividend is to be increased to 75 cents with the June 20 payment, equivalent to 30 cents on the split shares.

Inco has 29,700,000 shares outstanding, and if the split is approved its 74,000,000 common shares will be a record for any company in Canada.

Current market value of Inco shares is about $120.

MAYFAIR SALES

Overall sales at the Mayfair Shopping Centre were up 12 per cent in 1967, according to the annual report of Canadian Allied Property Investments Ltd., Mayfair's parent company.

A similar sales increase had been made in 1966, and the parent company reported the centre was fully let with only one change of occupancy during the year.

Despite an increased net profit from the Victoria venture, Canadian Allied Property's net consolidated earnings were down to $3,143 from $33,506.

FIRST YEAR

A loss incurred on the first year's operations of Guildford shopping centre on the mainland was held responsible for the overall result.

The Mayfair report states that 200,000 passengers travelled on the special B.C. Hydro bus service connecting the downtown area with Mayfair.

Another Canadian Allied subsidiary, Third Properties Ltd., has an interest in Vancouver's Project 200, which will develop waterfront property over the CPR rail tracks in the downtown area. Woodward's, Simpsons-Sears and CPR are other parties in Project 200.

RIGHTS ON SALE

Trans Canada Pipe Lines' new preferred share rights came on the market Wednesday, trading in some volume around 80 cents each.

The rights, good until May 8, entitle the owner to purchase at par one $50 par convertible preferred share paying $2.75 a year for each eight rights held.

The conversion is on the basis of 13 common for seven preferred and is valid for 10 years.

The rights are issued to all holders of Trans Canada Pipe Lines common stock.

At the current market value of 80 cents for the rights, the new preferred shares are given a value of $36.40, where they would yield about 4.85 per cent.

RESERVES SHORT

One production at Coast Copper's mine on Vancouver Island's Quatsino Sound is likely to reduce its mill output this summer because of low reserves.

J. H. Salter, president of the Cominco-controlled company, said at this week's annual meeting reserves were 185,500 tons, averaging .053 ounces of gold and 1.5 per cent copper.

Exploration work is being undertaken to improve the ore position.

NEW INCO MINE

A copper-nickel mine at Lower Shebandowan Lake, 50 miles west of Port Arthur, is to be developed by Inco at a cost of $31,000,000.

Due to go into production in 1971, it will be Inco's ninth mine under development in Canada.

Inco plans to ship concentrates to the Sudbury, Ont. smelter.

Net profit of Highland Bell Ltd. in 1967 was $599,833 compared with $475,409 in 1966, with the increase coming mainly from dividend income.

The company's interest in Mattagami Lake brought in $320,000 of a dividend total of $418,000. In the previous year dividends totalled $18,000.

The company's Mastodon-Highland Bell silver mining operation at Salmo, B.C., produced 713,911 ounces of silver against 743,278 in 1966. The grade was one-third lower than a year ago but the tonnage was increased and higher prices for silver boosted the mine's operating profit by $45,000.

British-French Product

First of French-British built supersonic tactical support fighters, Jaguar, is rolled out for press inspection at Villacoublay airport outside Paris Wednesday. Production of aircraft begins in 1970.

Carpenters' Pact 'Serious for B.C.'

VANCOUVER (CP)—An official of the Canadian Manufacturers Association said Wednesday he was appalled by the large size of the 74-cent hourly wage increase given to 8,000 members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners in British Columbia.

"I am appalled at the size of the wage settlement, coming as it does, at a time when every responsible segment of our society is crying out for restraint in the face of spiralling inflation," said William Hamilton, chairman of the B.C. division of the association.

"The increase is economically indefensible and I believe it will have very serious repercussions on our economy in B.C.," he said in a prepared statement.

"Not only will it have a depressing effect on capital development but it will aggravate an already serious situation in the area of new home construction."

The two-year contract, announced Tuesday night, provides an immediate increase of 18 cents on the hourly base rate of $4.14 when the agreement begins May 1, and further increases totalling 74-cents after two years.

Mr. Hamilton said the agreement will provide an incentive for other unions to "set their sights on settlements as rich, or richer than this one" and continue the inflation spiral.

Copper Price Faces Slump

World copper prices are sharply lower as a result of the settlement of the long copper industry strike in the U.S.

London copper prices Wednesday dropped 2½ cents to 55½ cents a pound representing a drop of nearly five cents on the week, and of 23 cents a pound from a month ago.

Dealers said the heavy demand from the U.S. during the strike had abated.

GOLD DIPS TOO

In the U.S. scrap copper refiners were offering the metal three cents below the previous day's level.

The free price of gold also tapered off in London Wednesday. The morning fixed price of $38 (U.S.) an ounce was reduced to $37.80 in the afternoon.

Spying

government would not expel the men.

"They crossed the border of curiosity and ended up on the path of vice," Izvestia says.

The American reply said that the attaches were engaged in activities "which are perfectly normal and accepted on the part of military attaches the world over, including military attaches of the Soviet Union in the United States."

IMMUNITY VIOLATED

It charged at the same time a series of violations of immunity that have "ranged from minor, such as short detention, to various serious ones involving prolonged detention, forcible search and seizing of personal property."

The embassy said the incidents involved "violation of accepted international norms for the treatment of diplomats."

In Ottawa, an external affairs spokesman said Wednesday that the Canadian embassy in Moscow had rejected the Soviet charges of improper activity against the Canadian military attaché.

PERMITTED TO GO

The spokesman said the embassy in Moscow had reported that the assistant Canadian forces attaché and three U.S. attaches were stopped and questioned outside a shipyard in Leningrad April 8.

"They were permitted to leave after denying charges of improper activity."

"The Canadian embassy has already rejected charges registered by the Soviet ministry of foreign affairs."

USED AS 'TOWER'

The Izvestia report says the Americans used the tall Canadian officer as an "observation tower" to spy out suitable objects for photographing over fences and walls.

A defence spokesman in Ottawa said records show Watson is five feet, 11 inches tall.

Lt.-Col. Kenneth J. Jefferson of Regina was arrested in Warsaw Jan. 4 and held 11 hours after he and an American attaché were accused of taking photos in a restricted area.

NO SIGNS

Canada accused the Polish authorities of violating Jefferson's diplomatic status and insisted there were no signs in the area restricting photography.

There was no immediate indication whether Watson would be withdrawn from Moscow, where he was posted last July.

DETAINED HOUR

Watson told a reporter that Hamer, Channell and Richards were walking down a street when a Soviet policeman stopped them, asked for identification and detained them in conversation for about an hour.

They were not taking photos, Watson said, and were not considering it. He said they were unaware they were in a sensitive area.

'Not Tall'

Officer's Mother Amazed

TORONTO (CP) — The widowed mother of Lt.-Col. J. V. Watson said Wednesday she was astounded at charges by the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia that her son had acted as an "observation tower" by peering over high fences to find suitable objects for U.S. officers to photograph.

"He's not tall ... he's no more than six feet," said Mrs. A. E. Watson in an interview.

"Have they put him in jail or what?" she asked.

Reports from Moscow Wednesday said the newspaper accused Watson and three U.S. naval attaches of taking illegal photographs of a Leningrad shipyard.

Mrs. Watson said her son, with his wife and daughter, had returned recently to Moscow after leave in England. She said he was posted to Moscow about a year ago.

"What worries me is what they might do with him," she said.

"Maybe I shouldn't say it, but I'd be glad if they put him out of the country."

Shooting Order Tempered

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard Daley tempered Wednesday the language of his order that police shoot arsonists and looters on sight but emphasized that they should be stopped.

The mayor told the city council that the city's policy is that only minimum force is used by policemen in carrying out their orders.

An aide said later the statement was designed to remove the impression that indiscriminate shooting was approved.

Korean Pledge Bared

HONOLULU (UPI) — President Johnson Wednesday pledged continued U.S. Military support to South Korea in the event of communist aggression and to continue consulting with that nation on attempts to bring peace in Vietnam.

Johnson, in a joint communique released after a day-long meeting with South Korean President Park Chung Hee, reaffirmed America's pledge of military aid to South Korea under existing treaties.

TWO LEADERS

The two presidents also reaffirmed their nations' position on the military aid to Vietnam, as stated in the seven-nation foreign ministers' meeting of April 1967 — that a settlement in Vietnam must respect the wishes of the Vietnamese people and the republic of Vietnam should be a full participant in any negotiations.

More important to Park, the foreign ministers' position stated any allied nations fighting in the war also should participate in any negotiations.

NO BELL-OUT

Park came to the meeting with the expressed desire to win reassurance from Johnson that he would not sell out its Asian allies for peace in Vietnam.

On the subject of aggression against South Korea, the communique said: "The two presidents agreed that further aggressive actions of the North Korean communists would constitute a most grave threat to peace."

Khe Sanh

Shelling Renewed

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese guns, firing from positions still largely immune to U.S. air power, have zeroed in again on U.S. marines at Khe Sanh, pounding the combat base with a fury similar to that of its 77-day siege, military spokesmen said Wednesday.

Some 250 artillery, mortar and 100-pound rockets fell on the base Tuesday. The spokesmen reported 19 marines attached to Khe Sanh were killed and 56 wounded, most in an ambush set for an American patrol operating about four miles outside the base. Fourteen marines from the patrol were reported missing.

HIDDEN BUNKER

The nine hours of fighting, halted when U.S. bombers drove off the North Vietnamese, was the heaviest in two weeks in the Khe Sanh area, officially relieved from its siege position April 5. U.S. military spokesmen put the North Vietnamese dead at 20.

They were among 50 manning a concealed bunker which opened up on the marine patrol with an estimated 100 rounds of artillery, rocket and small-arms fire as they manoeuvred four miles south-southwest of the base.

Near Saigon, U.S. and South Vietnamese forces involved in Operation "Complete Victory" clashed with Viet Cong troops in a series of skirmishes.

Military sources said South Vietnamese troops discovered a large cache of Viet Cong documents 14 miles west of Saigon Wednesday.

Zap

Missile Death On Flak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Navy is moving swiftly toward production of a new weapon nicknamed the Zap missile to bolster U.S. capabilities for beating down North Vietnamese anti-aircraft guns.

Zap is an acronym for zero anti-aircraft potential. Details of the missile's planned capabilities are closely guarded but work is far enough along that officials are being allowed to discuss generally its mission.

The Zap, sources said, will be a solid-fuelled "hypervelocity" rocket that will fly at speeds around 2,000 miles an hour and detonate with shattering effect over flak sites.

IN TWO YEARS

Within two years the missile is expected to go aboard navy fighter-bombers and may also be used by the air force.

Zap will have a conventional explosive warhead of unspecified size designed to go off just before it hits the ground with a special high-fragmentation effect.

Flyer Thwarted In Quitting Try

WINNIPEG (CP) — A regulation of the Canadian forces reorganization act was ruled valid Wednesday in Court of Queen's Bench, thwarting an officer's attempt to leave the air force.

Mr. Justice Israel Nitkman ruled that Capt. William John McIntosh's application for release can be refused under the provisions of the act which says pilots must complete five years of service from the date they receive their wings.

Following the unification of the forces an act was passed to allow personnel wishing to leave the new force to make application to appropriate authorities.

J. S. Lamont, lawyer for the captain, said regulations were approved after the act was passed to prevent officers in his category being released. He contended such a regulation could not supersede a section of an act approved by Parliament.

Court was told Capt. McIntosh enlisted in October, 1964, and was trained as a pilot at a cost to the public of about $124,000.

Company Control Goal

VANCOUVER (CP) — Food company heiress Frances McDougall said in court Wednesday she still is trying to regain control of Kelly Douglas Ltd., the food firm co-founded by her father.

"I am still buying all the class A stock I can afford," she testified in British Columbia Supreme court in her action against a group of former shareholders in the company. Miss Douglas' action claims these shareholders sold a controlling interest in 1958 to Loblaw's Groceries Ltd. in violation of a shareholders agreement. She seeks reversal of the sale.

John Farris, counsel for Victor MacLean, one of the shareholders named in the suit and grandson of co-founder Robert Kelly, asked Miss Douglas about an offer for her 500,000 class A shares.

Miss Douglas said she wasn't prepared to sell at any price. She made a counter offer to other shareholders to keep control.

The case continues.

Munich Death Regretted

BONN, (CP) — The West German Socialist German Students league — known as SDS — has expressed "deep regret" over the Wednesday death of an Associated Press photographer in Munich.

The disturbances which hit most major West German cities claimed their first death when photographer Klaus Frings, 33, died from head injuries after being hit by a stone.

SDS stressed the students wanted demonstrations without violence "but naturally we defend ourselves when attacked."

Meanwhile, the West German cabinet Wednesday resolved to quell political violence by all legal means after taking stock of the disturbances which erupted across the country during the Easter holiday.

Observers expected the death to have a sobering effect on thousands of students who have actively sympathized with the SDS during the past few days.

Jews Taking Up Gomulka's Offer

WARSAW (UPI) — Jewish emigration from Poland, increasing steadily, has reached a level of about 100 a month since Communist party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka renewed his offer for them to leave the country, informed sources said Wednesday.

The Netherlands Embassy, which has handled Israeli affairs since diplomatic relations with Israel were broken off last June, refused to disclose the number of Jews requesting emigration passports.

But sources said some 600 of Poland's estimated 30,000 Jews have so far taken advantage of Gomulka's offer.

Pueblo Intrusion Not Proved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The state department insisted Wednesday there was no evidence that the USS Pueblo was within North Korean territorial waters when it was captured Jan. 23.

The comment from department spokesman Robert McCloskey was in response to queries about a document broadcast Tuesday night by the National Broadcasting Co. which was purported to be a page from the intelligence ship's logbook.

The document placed the Pueblo's position at 7.6 miles from the coast of North Korea, which claims a 12-mile offshore limit, the day the ship was seized.

He said further meetings were expected with North Korean negotiators on the release of the Pueblo and its 82-man crew. Fourteen private sessions have been held at Panmunjom since the capture.

Teachers Approve Schools in French

By BILL STAYDAI
Colonist Education Reporter

PENTICTON — French-speaking schools for B.C. were endorsed near-unanimously Wednesday in a resolution passed by the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

The proposal, made by the Comox District Teachers' Association, was hailed by numerous speakers as a step toward strengthening Canadian unity.

The resolution calls on the department of education to "authorize the use of the French language for instructional purposes within the public school system in areas where the French-speaking percentage of the school population warrants it."

Delegates shouted down one Vancouver teacher who suggested that other ethnic groups might deserve special consideration, too.

"There are more Germans, Italians and Chinese in B.C. than French," he said, amid hoots.

Teachers earlier defeated a resolution by the Cowichan District Teachers' Association that the BCTF establish minimum salary levels for all salary categories.

Several speakers voiced fears that a minimum standard might become the maximum.

The delegates passed a resolution favoring the establishment of kindergartens as an integral part of the primary program.

Another resolution asked the department of education to establish a division of educational television.

The Burnaby District Teachers' Council sponsored a successful resolution that the provincial government should permit a simple majority, rather than a 60 per cent majority, to pass a school building referendum.

Highest Honor Awarded

PENTICTON — British Columbia's teachers Tuesday presented Thomas Chalmers, principal of Burnaby South high school, with the highest honor of their profession.

He received the Fergusson Memorial Award in recognition of outstanding service to education. Mr. Chalmers, president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation in 1948, remains active in the organization's executive. In 1966, he was made an honorary life member of BCTF.

President on Conflict with B.C.:

'This Is a Risk We Have to Take'

PENTICTON (Staff) — The new president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation predicted Wednesday a planned public information campaign on education issues will produce conflict with the provincial government.

Thomas Hutchison, a Windermere vice-principal who calls himself a gradualist, said he expects the government will mistake the teachers' campaign for partisan politics.

"This is a risk we have to take," said Mr. Hutchison.

WARNING GIVEN

Education Minister Leslie Peterson earlier warned of punitive action.

"The public still thinks of the high school as they knew it. But it's not an egg-grading device.

"We haven't made the effort," he said. "We've got to go out and meet the public."

Mr. Hutchison refused to say what tactics the BCTF might employ in its information campaign. He did say the BCTF won't necessarily oppose the government on everything.

FROM PLUMBERS

As a profession, he said, teachers want to graduate from being "plumbers and pipefitters of a building, to being the architects."

"The overriding issue at the moment is one of educating kids," he said.

"Our biggest task is to make sure that basic decisions are not made for administrative reasons, but for the sake of the kids."

SCOTTISH-BORN

Mr. Hutchison was born in Scotland and has been in Canada 10 years.

James Killen, vice-principal of John Oliver high school in Vancouver, was elected first vice-president.

Ray Wunderlich, past president of the Greater Victoria Teachers Association, was elected a member-at-large.

PENTICTON (Staff) — A province-wide evaluation of school library services will be launched by the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

***

The study, approved Wednesday by the BCTF at its annual convention, will be keyed to "the changing emphasis in curriculum and instructional practices."

Adequacy of existing library service and the needs of the future will be examined.

The convention also endorsed almost unanimously a resolution calling on the department of education to "change its priorities in secondary school construction so that library resource centre accommodation and equipment is a first consideration."

One speaker said that new department of education building regulations allocate more space to lunch rooms than to libraries.

Beer by Barrel? Why Not? — Bonner

Attorney-general Robert Bonner says he sees no reason why British Columbia beer drinkers should not be allowed to buy beer by the barrel.

***

However, he said, the breweries would have to approach the government to initiate the practice, which would involve selling kegs for home consumption.

premises in the province can purchase barreled beer.

Mr. Bonner was questioned following statements by German beer brewers, who suggested the sale of barreled beer to offset the drop in sales of bottled beer.

Mets Win Home Opener Set Two Team Records

Better check to see if the Empire State Building is still there. The unbelievable happened in New York Tuesday.

The Mets won their first home opener since joining the National League in 1962 and produced an honest-to-goodness baseball-type hero all in the same day. Rookie Jerry Koosman became the first Met to pitch two shutouts in a row as New York blanked the San Francisco Giants, 3-0, to win their third game in six starts.

Koosman, who was 0-2 in a brief appearance in the majors last season, escaped a bases-loaded, none-out situation in the first inning and went on to scatter seven hits for his second victory in two starts.

The Mets, who, led by Marv Throneberry, invented new ways to lose a ball game in their seven-year history, appeared to be in real trouble in the first inning.

Former Met Ron Hunt led off for the Giants with a single and reached second when shortstop Al Weis, whose error cost Mets a 1-0 loss in the 24-inning marathon in Houston Monday, fumbled Jim Davenport's grounder. Willie McCovey then walked, loading the bases.

But the 24-year-old left-hander struck out Willie Mays, got Jim Hart to pop up and struck out Jack Hilt. After that Koosman allowed only one Giant to reach second base as he struck out 10 batters.

Cleon Jones gave Koosman all the support he needed with a solo home run in the second inning. Ed Charles and Jerry Grote doubled in the other Met runs.

The league's standings tightened considerably as co-leaders Houston Astros and St. Louis Cardinals, the defending champions both lost on the road.

Pittsburgh Pirates blasted the Astros, 13-4, behind a 17-hit attack to move a half game behind the leaders. Seven of the hits came in the third inning where a missed tag by Hector Torres on Manny Mota during a double steal enabled Pirates to record a six-run inning.

Lee May, who drove in three runs with four hits as Cincinnati Reds downed Chicago Cubs, 9-8, Tuesday, was again the hero Wednesday, driving in Pete Rose with a single in the 12th inning to give the Reds a 4-3 victory over St. Louis.

In the other National League games, Phil Niekro's five-hit pitching and a home run by Hank Aaron propelled Atlanta Braves to a 2-0 victory over the visiting Chicago Cubs while Cookie Rojas' two-run home run helped the host Philadelphia Phillies snap a six-game losing streak with a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

In American League action, Twins won their sixth straight game without a loss by humbling the Washington Senators, 13-1, at Minnesota while Carl Yastrzemski and Dick Ellsworth again proved a winning combination for the defending champions, Boston Red Sox.

Yastrzemski cracked his fourth home run of the season and Ellsworth came up with a fine five hitter at Boston.

Baltimore Orioles spoiled the opening of the new Oakland Coliseum for the 50,164 fans which included California Gov. Ronald Reagan, dumping the Athletics, 4-1, on Dave McNally's two-hitter and home runs by Brooks Robinson, Boog Powell and Mark Belanger.

Detroit Tigers kept pace one game behind the Twins by defeating the visiting Cleveland Indians, 4-3, on Willie Horton's two-out, two-run home run in the bottom of the 10th inning.

'It's New Season' Says Coach Blake

By AL McNEIL

MONTREAL (CP) — If you're addicted to form charts it should be a simple choice to pick Montreal Canadiens over Chicago Black Hawks in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup East Division final round.

But don't attempt to convince

Montreal coach Toe Blake on the point. Blake isn't concerned with the fact his club routed the Hawks with a 6-2-2 record over the regular season. Or the fact that his club outscored the Chicagoans by a 42-18 margin in 10 games.

"It's a new season," Blake said after Wednesday's workout. "We have to forget what happened during the regular schedule. They have the momentum and they aren't the same team they were a few weeks ago."

The Montreal coach was referring to the fact the Hawks bounced back from a 2-0 deficit in games to take four straight and out New York Rangers 4-2 in their best-of-seven semi-final round.

During the season the Canadiens shut out the Hawks three times by 7-0, 6-0 and 5-0 scores. Veteran goaltender Gump Worsley had two of the shutouts, while rookie Rogatien Vachon registered the other.

The Canadiens eliminated Boston Bruins in four straight games and have been idle since last Thursday.

He said after a light scrimmage Wednesday Worsley, centre Jean Beliveau, left winger Gilles Tremblay and defenceman J. C. Tremblay needed a break as "they played a lot of hockey for us against Boston."

Veteran right winger Claude Provost, who suffered a strained back muscle last Thursday, is completely recovered.

The Canadiens have had Beliveau centering, Gilles Tremblay and Yvan Cournoyer on their first line. Ralph Backstrom has been skating between Provost and John Ferguson in another combination, while rookie Jacques Lemaire has pivoted Claude Duff and Bobby Rousseau.

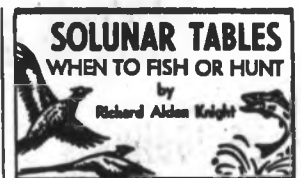

Since the playoffs began Blake has used a fourth corner of centre Henri Richard, left winger rookie Danny Grant and right winger Claude Larose for depth.

EXPECTS LETDOWN Chicago coach Billy Reay says he expects a bit of a letdown from his Hawks after their four-game surge against the Rangers.

"After this kind of series we expect a little letdown," Reay said.

"It can't be helped. I don't know what will happen against Montreal, but playoff games are decided by goaltending and Denis DeJordy did a great job for us. He might just do it against Montreal."

Canadiens have also had fine goaltending from Worsley and Blake indicated the veteran will oppose DeJordy tonight.

Sawchuk Back In Nets Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Veteran goal tender Terry Sawchuk returns to the nets for Los Angeles Kings tonight in the show-down National Hockey League playoff against Minnesota North Stars.

The teams meet at the Forum which provides an advantage to Los Angeles since in this first round of playoff action, deadlocked at 3-3, neither team has won a game away from its home ice.

Sawchuk suffered from the flu and missed the last two games with Wayne Rutledge taking over. Coach Red Kelly said the NHL veteran appears ready to return, but the coach himself was ill and confined to his home.

Both Coach Wren Blair of the North Stars and Kelly feel the home ice provides an advantage. But the former said: "It's now a one-game series and we've won in the Forum before."

Kelly, unhappy with his club losing a two-goal advantage in Minneapolis before falling in overtime 4-3 on Tuesday night, commented: "It could go either way. We hope the home ice holds up for us."

The winner of this series meets the winner of the Philadelphia-St. Louis set to determine which expansion team will break in the Stanley Cup finals.

Mikita Named Player of Year

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Sporting News announced Wednesday that Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks, a 40-goal scorer for the first time in his National Hockey League career, has been named East Division player of the year.

Mikita, four-time scoring champion in the NHL, was voted the honor by fellow players. Derek Sanderson, Boston's 21-year-old centre, was named the league's rookie of the year.

The weekly sports publication placed Mikita on its East Division all-star team. Others named to the team were Detroit's Gordie Howe, Bobby Hull of Chicago and defencemen Bobby Orr of Boston and Tim Horton of Toronto. New York's Ed Giacomin was named the East's all-star goalie.

Weiskopf Official Leader But Casper Doesn't Care

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf is in the lead in the 1968 PGA tournament, but Billy Casper has won more money.

Weiskopf has won $84,122 on the sanctioned professional tour and picked up unofficial winnings for a total of $70,465. Casper is almost $11,000 back in the official column at $53,219, but other winnings give him a total of $71,162.

George Archer is the third man in the list of the Top 10 released by the PGA. Archer has $46,464 in official winnings and a total of $46,507.

George Knudson of Toronto, who has won two of the major tournaments this year, is fourth on the money list with $45,407 in official winnings and a total of $52,065.

Others on the top 10 list, with their official and total winnings, are: Al Geiberger $40,545, $41,076; Tony Jacklin $38,490, $41,452; Gardner Dickson $33,964, $35,352; Dave Marr $33,221, $32,459; Kermit Zarley $30,850, $34,445; Dan Sikes $30,014, $31,341.

Esquimalt Wins School Golf Title

Cec Ferguson and Dave Mick led Esquimalt to victory in the Inter-High School golf tournament Wednesday at George Vale Golf Club.

Esquimalt's team of Ferguson, Mick, Ron Howard and Graham Brown won the Bill McColl trophy with a net 238 as the best three scores counting towards the total.

Ferguson and Mick tied for low net honors with 78s but Ferguson captured the playoff on the 19th hole when he shot a par four to Mick's bogey five.

Two other Esquimalt students, Rob Anderson and Bill Morrison, tied for low net honors with 70s. No playoff was held.

Victoria High's team of Ken Nott, Brian Gandy, Ken Kulai and Larry O'Malley took the low net title with 229.

Victoria Golf Club held a medal and pin competition and Uplands Golf Club staged a par competition Tuesday for women golfers.

Renee Robbins scored a net 78 in capturing silver medal honors at the Victoria Golf Club. Ruth Leach, Bessie Wilson and Claudia Morrow tied for second with scores of 80.

In the bronze competition at Victoria, Helen Ellis won the event with a 78 while Evelyn Brown and Marjorie Goodland finished tied for second with scores of 83.

In the par competition at the Uplands Golf Club, Lil Thirwell ended all even to win the A division. Sue Gill was two down in capturing the B division and Iris Parr and Freda Blythe shared the C division honors after they both finished one down.

Rejoins Argos TORONTO (UPI) — Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League announced the signing of Ruben Whitney, a defensive halfback from Fort Worth, Texas. Whitney, 23, is six feet and weighs 177 pounds. He was signed by the Argos last season but was sidelined with an ankle injury.

Elliot Blasts Home Run For Mounties

SEATTLE (AP) — Vancouver Mounties got only three hits Wednesday night but one of them was a home run by Larry Elliot and that was a 1-0 victory needed for a 1-0 Pacific Coast League baseball victory over Seattle.

Andy Messersmith, young Seattle right-hander, had a given up only two singles before Elliot's seventh-inning blast wrapped up the game. Messersmith, who had struck out nine, then walked Joe Rudi and was replaced by Bob Heffner.

Vancouver's Don Yingling also was effective, spacing six hits before leaving in the seventh when he developed a blister.

Housewife Sues Baseball ...

Ill-Fitting Gear Least of Her Troubles

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernice Gera, the Long Island housewife who wants to add a little sex to the national pastime, said Wednesday she is suing organized baseball for the right to be a lady umpire.

"I have retained a lawyer and we are taking our case to the courts," the thirtyish matron from Jackson Heights, N.Y., announced. "The commissioner, Gen. William D.

Eckert refuses even to let me take out an application." Bernice's lawyer is Mario Biaggi of New York, who said he intends to bring the case first before the State Commission on Human Rights.

"Mrs. Gera has been thwarted and wronged at every turn. She has written to all the proper authorities, taken the necessary steps and received nothing but rebuffs," said Biaggi.

Mrs. Gera, wife of a freelance photographer, graduated magna cum laude from an umpires' school last year in West Palm Beach, Fla., the only woman enrolled, and later umpired the National Baseball Congress in Wichita, Kan.

"I didn't have too much trouble," Bernice explained. "The chest protector didn't fit very well — those things aren't made for women. And the players tried to give me a hard time.

"They wouldn't make a pass directly but a man at the plate might carry on a conversation with the catcher that would go something like this:

"Hey, Joe, some chick behind the plate — wonder if she'd go out to dinner with me?"

"Forget it, Butch. I already got her booked."

"I ignore the remarks and continued to call them as tough as I could. Several times players would rush at me with their faces flushed and fuming, but I would just ignore them."

Eckert's office acknowledged that correspondence had been received from Mrs. Gera but a spokesman said:

"It is a matter up to the league presidents and Ed Doherty in Columbus, who is in charge of umpires' development."

Doherty's office in Columbus said that, yes, Mrs. Gera had made application and the application was being treated normally.

Mrs. Gera said that umpiring is strictly a matter of judgment—not of strength or physical prowess — and a woman can exercise this judgment as well as a man.

Stamp Star Gets Award

MONTREAL (CP) — Terry Evanahen, who set pass-catching record with Calgary Stampede of the Western Football Conference last season, has been named this year's winner of the Knights of Pythias athlete-of-the-year award.

The award is given annually to the athlete who is considered to have done the most to combat juvenile delinquency.

Women's Softball Starts Comeback

Women's softball took a step towards a comeback in local sporting circles recently with the formation of the Lower Island Women's Softball League.

Original members are Molson's Vicettes, Tudor House, Tillicums and CFB Esquimalt Wrens. League officials hope to have at least two other teams in the fold by the entry deadline of May 1. The season is scheduled to open May 14 at Central Park.

Representatives from the four teams met and drafted a constitution and then the teams had a meeting to elect officers and approve the league's format.

Myrna Harris was elected president with Marg Billinger as secretary, treasurer and Jean Deslippe as vice-president.

Any players or groups interested in participating in the league can get in touch with any of the executive or phone Wally Yeamans at 384-6159 for further information.

Clubmates Matched In Eights

Royal Colwood is the only club with a chance to have two semi-finalists in the handicap section of the Vancouver Island Open golf tournament following Sunday's play at Uplands Golf Course.

Three Colwood swingers, Gene Williams, Bob Malcolm and John Baird, advanced to next Sunday's quarter-finals along with Burke Cuppage of Victoria, Bob Robertson of Cedar Hill, Jack Storrie and George Moon of Gorge Vale and John Furlston of Uplands.

But the Gorge pair meet in one of Sunday's matches at Victoria Golf Club as do Colwood's Malcolm and Baird. The other draws pit Cuppage against Robertson and Furlston against Williams.

Play starts at 9:30 a.m. Burke Cuppage (V) defeated Hugh Reid (U), 1 and 3. Bob Robertson (CD) defeated Bill Biscayne (GV), 1 up. Jack Storrie (GV) defeated Ken Kulai (GV), 1 up. George Moon (GV) defeated G. D. White (GV), 2 up. Gene Williams (RC) defeated Geoff Hill (GV), 5 and 4. John Furlston (U) defeated Doug Peden (U), at 189. Bob Malcolm (RC) defeated John Carlow (GV), 6 and 5. John Baird (RC) defeated Ted Pollard (U), at 21st.

Registrations The Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League will hold registration at Athletic Park on Sunday, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Crowds, Wagering Way Off To Halfway Point of Meet

Thoroughbred racing fans in Victoria don't seem to be getting any more enthused about the spring meet now that it has reached the halfway point.

Only 1,711 patrons were at Sandown Park Wednesday and the total mutuel for the sixth day was just $63,053. On the corresponding day in 1967, when there was a fall meeting, 2,529 fans attended and bet $109,216.

COMPARATIVE TOTALS So far the mutuel total is down about 30 per cent from the first six days of the 1967 meet with a total of $505,540 wagered as compared to $721,026 last year.

Wednesday's card was limited to seven races because of a lack of entries as mainland owners appear hesitant to ship horses to Sandown and only two races had a full complement of eight horses.

Feature race of the day, an Invitational Handicap for four-year-olds and up, was won by the favorite El Tajo, owned and trained by John Azanza and ridden by Frank Barroby.

El Tajo quickly took charge and held a safe lead throughout the race, finishing second with a strong drive through the stretch and Littlebitof Sugar was third.

Barroby and Guerrero shared jockey honors for the day, each riding two winners.

Barroby, who moved into second place in the jockey standings with six wins, made it two-in-a-row in the seventh race on the favorite, Dark Bug, who coupled with runner-up Donmaid for a $13.00 Quinella payoff.

Guerrero won on Beau Bunnie in the fifth race and guided Simontime to the biggest payoff for a winning horse of the day in the third race. Simontime paid $15.90, $6.30, $5.20.

Beau Bunnie and Indian Puddin' combined for a small return of $6.00 in the opening-race Quinella.

Bill Skuse retained his lead among the jockeys by riding highly-favored Sandripples to a five-length victory in the fourth race for his seventh winner of the meet.

Sandripples, who returned $3.80, $3.20, $2.50, combined with Jokellina for an Exacto payoff of $36.90.

Closest finish of the day came in the second race, a three-and-one-half furlong sprint for two-year-olds with Ron Arnold urging Trudy Star in the lead all the way to win by a head over Boy Orphan. Trudy Star returned $10.30, $5.10, $3.40.

Jack Phillips won on Katie Chief in the fifth race.

Next racing at Sandown is Saturday when an eight-race program is planned.

It's smart to go around with Polyester

Seiberling's been doing it for 3 years

Polyester tire cord. We started working with it three years ago, and the highly sophisticated version of it we have developed, we call Polytex 'A'. Our tires have been going around with it for quite a while, although some other manufacturers haven't even struck up an acquaintance yet. But sooner or later everyone will be using it. It lasts longer and stands up better under impact and stress than any other tire cord. It is not affected by heat, cold or moisture. It will give your car a smoother, more stable ride.

We know... our Supreme 150's have been going around and around with polyester longer than any other tire.

And now it's time for the WT70 Sportster to have a turn. This is our newest tire. It's wider and two faced. It has the new seven rib tread, a racy looking low profile with a red stripe on one side and a narrow ribbon whitewall on the other. You can switch from swank to sporty, depending on your mood. It will give you better traction, better cornering and faster stops. And we built it with Polyester cord, because we don't think there's anything else that can give you the strength, stability and durability you want in a tire. Get more fun out of driving...ride the wides.

The tires people choose to go around with.

Bitter Percival Quits as Coach

TORONTO (CP) — Lloyd Percival of Toronto says he has given up a lifelong dream to make Canada a world power in sports "because I can't fight the establishment any longer."

"All my life I've wanted to promote Canada through athletics, but I guess I was too far ahead of my time and it's been one of the great disappointments of my life," the 54-year-old physical fitness expert said.

Percival became interested in training techniques during the Second World War and decided to go into it full time. In 1945 he started a national radio program—called Sports College—to discuss his training techniques.

Later he began the Fitness Institute, which has conditioned such well-known professionals as hockey player Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo of Toronto and professional golfer George Knudson of Toronto.

RESIGNS AS COACH

He announced Tuesday he has resigned as coach of the Don Mills Track Club in Toronto and will concentrate all his efforts on the institute.

"I was never recognized in Canada the way I've been accepted in other countries," he said. "I was working with European players, promoting their games and all the time I wanted to teach the Canadians how to beat the Russians."

He freely admits that the Canadian establishment was not ready for his techniques.

"I was in a controversial situation right from the start," he said. "I set out to study conditioning and training methods from all over the world and apply them to Canadians."

"I was involved in controversy when I began training track people with weights. I was in trouble when I announced that putting ice on a charley horse was better than rubbing it."

"Both those methods have been accepted over the years, but right up to this day many others have not."

Called Up

Veteran of 130 Stanley Cup games, Doug Harvey has been called up by St. Louis Blues from their Kansas City farm club for possible use in tonight's decisive Stanley Cup game against Philadelphia Flyers. Blues also called up left winger Gary Veneruzzo and NHL veteran Don McKenney.

Spokane Fires Kilburn

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Colin Kilburn, coach and general manager of the Spokane Jets for the last three seasons, has been fired by the Western International Hockey League club's board of directors.

Kilburn, a pro player and assistant coach in Spokane in two earlier seasons, returned in the 1965-66 season and signed a two-year contract, which was rewritten for two more years after the first season.

Dr. Frank Jurdy, the board's president, said the balance of Kilburn's contract had been paid in full to its expiration date, Aug. 31. His services were terminated Monday, Jurdy said.

Rumors of friction between Kilburn and the members of the club's board had circulated since last summer.

Kilburn was a member of Victoria Cougars of the WHL for several seasons.

Accident Could End Annabelle's Career

TORONTO (CP) — Annabelle, who purchased her for $1,100 at an auction.

"As far as we can tell, there are no broken bones," Rimstead said.

"We don't know exactly what is wrong," Trainer Jim Santha said he was galloping the horse down the stretch "when I saw a couple of horses about 1-16th of a mile ahead."

"I yelled 'heads up, I'm coming through' and the other rider who had the other horse in a canter, pulled it up."

One report was that the horse suffered a sort of whiplash injury twisting as it fell.

What's everybody in B.C. saying about this popular whisky?

Cheers. And you'll cheer too once you've tried Walker's Special Old. You'll like the mellow smoothness and the look of luxury. No wonder it's one of Canada's favourites.

Brand New Little M Joins Big M Team

TORONTO (UPI) — Winger Frank Mahovlich of Detroit Red Wings was handling out cigars Wednesday after the birth Tuesday of his third child.

His wife, Marie, gave birth to the seven-pound, four-ounce boy at St. Michael's Hospital, and the Big M said the child would be named either Mark Theodore or Theodore Mark.

Mahovlich was traded to the Red Wings in March after 10 years with Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League. He also has another son, Michael, 4, and a daughter, Nancy, 1.

Since the Red Wings did not make the Stanley Cup playoffs this year, Mahovlich is working at his off-season job as head of the Frank Mahovlich Travel Agency here.

Rock Vine Saves Beny In India Cliffhanger

TORONTO (CP) — Vines on the rock face of an 1,800-foot chasm saved Canadian Roloff Beny from injury or possible death in a fall on a picture-taking expedition in northeast India last week.

In a letter to friends in Toronto, the 44-year-old artist-photographer from Medicine Hat, in India for the last three months gathering material for a book, said "I truly feel reborn." In recounting his experience near the village of Cherapunji on the Assam-East Pakistan border.

Cherapunji has two claims to fame Beny said: Its heavy rainfall and waterfalls — 1,800 feet high, 11 times the height of Niagara Falls.

Beny said a tidal-wave of rain hit the village, 7,000 feet above sea level, soon after he arrived April 7 to photograph the falls but the air cleared after an hour "and there we were perched right on the edge of the gorge."

"I located what seemed the perfect rock to avoid the dense jungle which surrounds the area and made a leap, without realizing this was the very edge of the 1,800-foot chasm. I slipped on the sodden lichen and shot over the edge."

"Strangely enough one is meant to recall all of one's life at such an ultimate moment but the only concern seemed to be to protect my invaluable camera which I kept cuddled in my arms like a baby."

My poor guide shrieked with horror as I disappeared over the precipice but to his and my surprise found me en-

Prison Riot Quelled

Buckshot Kills Five Convicts

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A sitdown strike by about 500 prisoners at the maximum security prison Tuesday and erupted into a torch-throwing melee about 1:30 a.m. Wednesday.

V. Lee Bounds, state correction commission, said guards and state police regained control of the prison after skirmishing less than 10 minutes after the gunfire.

The strike began when prisoners refused to return to work after the noon meal Tuesday.

They presented a list of grievances to prison officials. They said they would not leave the prison yard until they could discuss their grievances with Bounds, who was out of the state at the time.

Bounds returned later in the day but refused to negotiate under pressure from prisoners.

Bounds said prison administrator David Henry was preparing to issue a final call for surrender to the demonstrators.

Prison guards, armed with chemical mace and nightsticks, but without guns, were on the ground blocking the demonstrators.

A team of eight doctors and an anesthetist performed the marathon operation Tuesday.

Dr. Arleen Powers, the centre's pediatrician, said one of the twins, Chandra, was in serious condition while her sister, Charron, was in critical condition. The twins' last name has not been disclosed.

Siamese Twins Separated

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two-month-old Siamese twins born to an unwed 16-year-old Negro girl have been separated in a day-long operation by a team of doctors at the USC-county medical centre, attendants announced Wednesday.

A team of eight doctors and an anesthetist performed the marathon operation Tuesday.

Dr. Arleen Powers, the centre's pediatrician, said one of the twins, Chandra, was in serious condition while her sister, Charron, was in critical condition. The twins' last name has not been disclosed.

Dr. Arleen Powers, the centre's pediatrician, said one of the twins, Chandra, was in serious condition while her sister, Charron, was in critical condition. The twins' last name has not been disclosed.

The strike began when prisoners refused to return to work after the noon meal Tuesday.

They presented a list of grievances to prison officials. They said they would not leave the prison yard until they could discuss their grievances with Bounds, who was out of the state at the time.

Bounds returned later in the day but refused to negotiate under pressure from prisoners.

Bounds said prison administrator David Henry was preparing to issue a final call for surrender to the demonstrators.

A team of eight doctors and an anesthetist performed the marathon operation Tuesday.

Foreign Sex Films Squeeze Out Red Line

MOSCOW (UPI)—Sexy, silly foreign movies are eroding Soviet morals, a Moscow newspaper said Wednesday.

But there is little that can be done about it, it said, because these movies draw bigger crowds than the ideologically sound Soviet films—and Russian movie theatres need the money.

The newspaper, Sovetskaya Rossiya, complained that "in dozens of foreign movies, we see a woman in bed, in the bathroom, on a beach, or just plain nude, without any special reason."

By releasing banal foreign films on Soviet screens, it said, "we surrender our positions and, little by little, lose some part of the moral and spiritual treasures of this country."

The newspaper said it was not against all imported movies.

"Our spiritual world would be much poorer without such movies as It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World."

It also praised the work of Stanley Kramer, Jean Babin, Michelangelo Antonioni, Federico Fellini and Tony Richardson.

Fellini's La Dolce Vita has been shown here, but Richardson's Tom Jones has not.

The article objected particularly to two foreign films—The Naked Virgin, with Ava Gardner, and a French comedy Operation St. January.

"Some movie people say our spectators are not well-developed in aesthetics," it said. "This is a dirty lie about our people."

The real trouble lies with money.

A Soviet ideological film, Common Facism, attracted 118,000 viewers at 479 showings in the city of Gorky, it said. The American movie, Some Like It Hot, pulled in 288,000 persons at 1,037 performances.

"So the question is, which is most important, rubles or human souls?" The paper did not answer the question.

Names in the News

No Eighth Bride Planned But Not Because of Age

CHICAGO — Cornelius Jones has given up on marriage, but not because he has outlived seven wives and not because he's nearly 107 years old. "I don't think I'm too old to get married," Jones said. "But I just decided I'm not going to ask anyone to marry me."

HOLLYWOOD — Fay Bainter, stage and Oscar-winning screen actress long popular in roles as wife, understanding mother or faithful friend, has died Tuesday at her home. She was 74.

LONDON — Princess Anne, 17-year-old daughter of the Queen, has passed a British driving test over London streets at the wheel of a Royal Family car. A poker-faced transport ministry examiner rode with her on the test.

HONOLULU — The White House has denied heatedly a published report that President Johnson is suffering from throat cancer, terming it a "colossal hoax." The report was published in a Miami weekly newspaper column.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. — April 12 was a busy day for Charles E. Hitchcock. His new bride charged him with bigamy and his first wife gave birth to a baby. Hitchcock, 27, appeared in court, waived a hearing on the bigamy charge and was held for grand jury action.

VANCOUVER — Vancouver and District Labor Council has voted to send a telegram to Prime Minister-designate Pierre Elliott Trudeau demanding the release of two jailed trade unionists, Steve Stevens, presi-

Psychology, Philosophy On Day-Long Seminar

The practical approaches to psychology and philosophy will be explored during a day-long seminar here Saturday that will be presented by a Vancouver man who has worked with all segments of that community.

David Pellin has helped everyone from Skid Road drunks to West End apartment dwellers understand themselves, said a spokesman for the seminar's organizers, the Greater Victoria school board.

Mr. Pellin and the seminar participants will talk about emotions, institutions such as marriage, and some of the principles of philosophy.

Applications for enrolment in the seminar, which starts at 9 a.m., can be obtained from the school board offices.

No More Easter Rush

Tonsils Time Now Anytime

The Easter bunny is no longer a harbinger of aching throats for Victoria children.

Until a few years ago, it was a seasonal routine in hospitals that the Easter holidays would be a time for the removal of hundreds of tonsils.

Now, tonsillectomies are a year-round procedure, with children being cycled through Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's hospitals on an average of 40 a week.

BED SHORTAGE

While in some cases the operations interrupt school work, the 12-month program is necessary because of the shortage of hospital beds here.

The pressure is on every day of every week, including school holiday periods, to have important surgery done.

Both Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's have established routines which see normal tonsillectomy cases stay in hospital about 48 hours.

For example, a child is admitted Sunday afternoon, has the operation Monday morning and is discharged Tuesday morning. Royal Jubilee makes room in its operating theatres for 28 a week while St. Joseph's handles 15.

St. Joseph's has a system which sees a new batch of tonsillectomy candidates arrive every Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday.

Royal Jubilee was recently thinking of accelerating its tonsil program, but the proposal seems to have hit that familiar patch of quicksand—no space.

SOME PLACES

In some places, hospitals are taking advantage of the properties of new anaesthetics and medications to keep children under observation for only eight hours after surgery.

This means a child who had his tonsils removed at 10 a.m. would be discharged around 6 p.m. if there were no complications.

However, the bed shortage and the fact that there are increased risks in such a routine have not resulted in the idea being accepted here.

New Legislation

Consumer Guard Effective June 1

Amendments to the Consumer Protection Act passed at the recent session of the legislature will come into effect June 1, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Wednesday.

Regulations under the act will be amended on that date to comply with the amendments, he said.

One amendment requires lenders of mortgage money advertising their services and making reference in terms of credit, to set out the sum actually to be received in cash by the borrower, the amount of each installment and the number of installments required to repay the total debt.

A second amendment permits retail stores to take out indemnity bonds to cover the maximum total of lay-away deposits, which were previously required to be held in trust on an individual basis.

Victorian Shares Marine Visit To Zeebrugge

LONDON (CP) — Seventy-five veterans of the Royal Navy's historic raid on Zeebrugge in the First World War will sail back to the Belgian port next weekend to observe the 50th anniversary of that gallant stroke against the U-boat.

One survivor now living in Canada is among them — E. F. Tracey of Victoria, a Royal Marine corporal in that war. Three other former Royal Marines in Canada are not expected. They are W. J. Thompson of Nanaimo, B.C.; J. F. Thompson of East Wellington, B.C., and R. Collier, Oldcastle, Ont. (Neighbors say Mr. and Mrs. Tracey, who live at 2411 Epworth, left Victoria about March 23 for England, sailing from

New York and looking forward eagerly to the Zeebrugge reunion. They plan to return in July.

The Traceys have no known relatives in Canada.)

The Royal Navy is sending over a fleet of five ships for the event and Admiral of the Fleet Earl Mountbatten will be on hand along with Gen. Sir Norman-Tailor, commandant-general of the marines.

The heavily-defended mole of Zeebrugge was stormed from the sea April 23, 1918, to knock out the North Sea port as a submarine base. An assault party of marines drew heavy fire while blockships were sailed in and blown up, trapping a dozen submarines and 23 torpedo boats for six months.

Fool's Job Sought By Idle Logger

NELSON (CP) — Jim Jarvis, a striking woodworker, has applied to city officials for the job of town fool.

In a letter to city council, he says a town fool is not merely an eccentric loudmouth but is an observer, thinker, and a satirist of social ills.

"For this position I believe I am duly qualified, and I leave the salary classification to your discretion," he says.

Nelson council, at its Tuesday night meeting, light-heartedly accepted the letter, though not planning to hire a fool. Councilors suggested instead that Mr. Jarvis might file a nomination for city council.

Thetis Takeover Opposed

'Outside Terms Of Region Board'

By A. H. MURPHY

Victoria's proposal to turn over Thetis Lake Park to the regional district will meet solid opposition from at least three neighboring municipalities, it was indicated Wednesday.

The plan, worked out at a recent city council committee meeting, would see Mayor Hugh Stephen urge that the regional district take over the 1,108-acre tract and pay the city $100,000. The city would agree to maintain the park for a specified number of years, probably three.

It was decided that if council permission was given, Mayor Stephen would broach the scheme at the regional board meeting on April 24.

Mayor Ray Bryant of Esquimalt, Mayor Fred Hawes of Oak Bay and Mayor J. B. Cumming of North Saanich were all against the plan on Wednesday.

Away from Concept

"I don't wish to oppose the city and I realize its plight with Thetis, but this is getting entirely away from the original regional district concept of parkland acquisition," said Mayor Bryant.

The idea was not to acquire existing parks but to get a hold on land which, if not reserved as parkland, might be bought and developed by private enterprise.

"The region is acquiring for the future. Existing parks such as Thetis will undoubtedly remain parkland whether dedicated or not—political pressure will assure that—but there are other desirable tracts which will be bought and spoiled if the region fails to get its hands on them," Mayor Bryant added.

Mayor Hawes agreed. The purpose of the money accumulated by the half-mill assessment on regional member communities was to procure land not already reserved, Mayor Hawes said.

He realized that Victoria was under a heavy burden, maintaining parks outside the city boundaries, but this did not negate the fact that a takeover of existing parkland by the regional board would be outside its original terms of reference.

Mayor Hawes agreed with Mayor Bryant that a Thetis takeover might be desirable at a future date, but he felt that it was a low-priority item among the things the board had yet to do.

Mayor Cumming was more direct in his assessment of the situation.

"It seems that Victoria wants the regional board to share its liabilities. I would be very interested in talking over the sharing of its assets also—say the Greater Victoria Water District."

The acquisition but not the maintenance of parkland was authorized by a referendum, Mayor Cumming said, and the people voted to procure land for future development and not take over existing parks. There was no doubt about this concept, the mayor said, and he proposed to hold it.

If Victoria wanted to get rid of Thetis Lake Park and its attendant upkeep cost, perhaps it should turn it back to Esquimalt. It acquired the watershed land when it took over the assets of the old Esquimalt water distribution system, he recalled.

Keep-Off Warning Issued

Mt. Finlayson Trails Too Risky for Hikers

Mount Finlayson's hiking trails were branded dangerous Wednesday night, and hikers were warned to stay off the mountain until the trails are re-blazed.

Langford Fire Chief Allan LeQueune said it was too easy for hikers to become lost on the mountain, especially when they try to make their way back down.

"The trails were blazed years ago and many of the markings have been obliterated by forest fires. Hikers also mistake scuff-marks made on trees by fire fighting machinery as blaze marks."

He also pointed out that many of the trails have been crisscrossed over the years by breaks made to contain forest fires, and these too add confusion to a hiker.

Mr. LeQueune has asked the provincial park officials to ban hiking on the mountain until the trails are suitably marked.

He said the parks branch has not replied to his request for the trail closure.

First-Hand Look at Nematodes

Curious Pest Draws 60 World Scientists

By JOHN MATTERS

Scientists from all over the world were in the Victoria area Wednesday for a first-hand look at Vancouver Island's pesky golden nematodes.

A group of about 60 during the morning inspected the federal agriculture department's nematode research unit at Victoria International Airport and spent the afternoon on nearby farm fields where the curious pest has been found.

Dr. M. B. Harrison of Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., said the testing and survey centre here was the best he had seen for any nematode work.

"We certainly don't come close to it in New York," he added. The nematologists—they can't be called entomologists because the pest doesn't have the characteristics of an insect—came to Vancouver Island after a day-long symposium at Simon Fraser University.

They are back in Vancouver to look at other research facilities and hear more scientific papers.

The first nematode was found on the Saanich Peninsula in July, 1965, almost three years ago. It survives in the soil, taking the vigor out of the plants which it attacks.

It is of such wide interest because one of its victims is the potato plant, a staple of most Western diets. A nematode assault on a Rhode Island potato crop once reduced the yield 71 per cent.

The visiting scientists were intrigued by the methods used here to remove the nematode cysts from dried soil. One cyst may contain as many as 300 eggs.

502 Pints of Blood Given in Two Days

Red Cross officials said Wednesday night they were pleased with the results of a two-day blood donor clinic which raised a total of 502 pints. Earlier in the day, they collected 240 pints, 91 of which came from prisoners at the Wilkinson Road jail and William Head prison. Tuesday's donations added up to 262 pints. An indication of the slight drain it was on individual donors, they said, is that 502 pints is roughly equivalent to the total blood content of about a dozen people.

Vietnam Report Due Sunday

It will be made by Dr. James Endicott, chairman, Canadian Peace Congress and executive member of the World Council of Peace.

8 Per Cent

Pay Hike Awarded Firemen

Members of city council fire wardens committee will be told today that a conciliation board has awarded Victoria firemen salary increases totalling 8 per cent from July 1.

Alf Adamson, president of the firemen's union, said Wednesday that the board, which was called in after negotiations with the city deadlocked, awarded an increase of 6.75 per cent retroactive to January 1, 1968, and an additional 1.24 per cent from July 1 for the duration of the one-year contract.

This will mean that a first class fireman, from July 1, will get $607 a month—$13 a month less than a first-class constable of the Victoria police force.

Mr. Adamson said that no additional fringe benefits were won by the union which was seeking a longer holiday period among other things.

Queen's Day Today For Scouts

One of the largest and one of the last groups of Boy Scouts to receive Queen's Scout certificates will attend investiture ceremonies at Government House today.

Two hundred and eighty B.C. boys, 40 of them from Greater Victoria and 20 from other Island points, will receive their certificates from Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes at 2:30 p.m.

With the Scout badge system under revision, this is expected to be the second-last Queen's Scout investiture. The highest rating will soon be changed to Queen's Venture.

It will be Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes' last such ceremony as patron of B.C. Scouting, since he retires later this spring.

Bee Battler Braced

Daring any honey bee to come within mop range is Mrs. J. A. Loucks, 380 Obed, who told Saanich council Tuesday she couldn't keep her laundry clean because of neighbor's bees. "They stain sheets, diapers and white shirts, and you can't get stains out," she said. Council said that currently there is no bylaw regulating keeping of bees.

Records Might Fall At Sportsman Show

Opening day at the Sportsman Show pointed Wednesday to a new attendance record for the four-day run, according to members of the sponsoring Kiwanis Club of Saanich. The show is being staged in Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Busy Kiwanians truned out a few opening-day bugs, as enthusiastic crowds thronged the displays, exhibitions, movies, stage shows and midway.

Heading up the professional end of the stage show were the Del Rios, man-and-wife team from Australia, specialists in knife and hatchet throwing and rope twirling.

MAGIC ACT Rudy Hayden and his wife Beverley put on a Fantasy in Feathers, a bird and magic act that was a show-stopper for the small fry in the audience.

The Googles, a brother-and-sister unicycle act with hair-raising talent, rounded out the professional entertainment.

The Victoria Boys' Club staged a gymnastic display highlighted by a human pyramid; the London Boxing and Athletic Club plans exhibitions of young boxers at 9:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and a Navy team is offering gymnastic performances.

BADMINTON SHOW Ed Hedley and Wendy Cuppage teamed up against Jim and Rene Wells, all of the Victoria Racquet Club in a badminton exhibition in front of the arena stage.

In the curling rink, diminutive Harvey Livingstone, 21, of Lake Cowichan, and his 18-year-old brother, Cyril, gave a demonstration of log-birling in a plastic tank rigged up for the water events.

The elder Livingstone, Canadian amateur championship winner at the PNE last year, and his brother hope to go professional in the near future.

NAVY DIVERS Also in the pool, navy divers put on a display of water safety; Jimmy Gilbert of Brentwood demonstrated baiting-up and casting; the West Coast Divers displayed diving and water safety.

Matinee performances of stage and pool shows start at 3 p.m. weekdays, 4 p.m. Saturday; evening shows run from 6:30 to 10 p.m.

Twice-daily showings of films include the 1967 Canadian Open golf championship in Victoria; Shell's Wonderful World of Golf; a Grand Prix automobile race; National Film Board movies on water and snow skiing, fishing and camping.

DAILY PRIZES Fishing, hunting, camping, diving, motorcycling, trailer camping, tenting and boating equipment from the plush to the no-so-plush are all included in the show, which runs for three more days.

Daily prizes are offered, with a trailer as the main prize, to be given away Saturday.

Fun for the youngsters includes carnival rides, games, archery shooting, and the shows.

Vandals Start Second Fire

The ticket window at the University of Victoria stadium was damaged by fire Monday for the second time in six days. The latest fire was started when vandals set fire to the powder of a 20-gauge shotgun shell after removing the pellets. A small fire was set on the window ledge of the ticket office April 10, cracking the glass.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'll make it brief and to the point. My age: 36; background: married twice. First marriage to a man twice my age. (I was 16.) My mother pushed me into it because she thought he was rich. I said O.K. because I thought he was kind. We were both wrong. The third time he broke my nose I divorced him.

My second marriage lasted two years. My husband drank vodka martinis for breakfast with beer chasers. He worked for the city and had a fatal accident at work. I'm sure he was smashed on the job, but they paid off nicely and I got a generous settlement.

I bought a small cafe three years ago and have been doing very well. The problem: A 19-year-old boy applied for a job four months ago and I hired him. He is handsome, hard-working, and I think we are in love. He is very grown-up for his age and looks a lot older than he is. The Army won't take him because he has a steel plate in his head. He wants to marry me. What do you think?—ANGIE

Dear Angie: The kid has a steel plate in his head. What's YOUR excuse? A fellow 19 should be looking for a girl 17. If you are smart you'll help him find one. Where's his mother, anyway?

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 13-year-old boy who thinks your advice stinks. Why did you tell that 12-year-old kid he is better off staying in the house practicing the piano, which he hates, than being out in the fresh air playing ball with the gang? Any doctor will tell you that you are wrong. Also this kid's chances of becoming a great ball player are a lot better than his chances of becoming a great piano player because he said in his letter he loves baseball and hates piano. I used to think you were on the side of us kids, but now I think you are a crabby old lady.—FORMER FRIEND

Dear Former: I doubt seriously that the boy is in danger of becoming either a great pianist or a great ball player. That, however, is beside the point. What I had in mind was discipline. Unfortunately, too many kids are allowed to do only what is easy, convenient or pleasant and practising piano is not usually on the list. Got it straight now, Buddy?

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I were married at a small family wedding. I knew I was pregnant at the time, and figured I was about three months along. As it turned out, I was in my fifth month. We left the city shortly after the wedding and now live about 600 miles away from our families. My mother knows I am pregnant but she has no idea how pregnant I am.

The baby is due in about two weeks and I am undecided as to whether I should notify our parents when the baby arrives or wait a few months. What is your advice?—INFANTICIPATING

Dear In: Notify your parents when the baby arrives. It is unrealistic to think you can keep an event like this a secret. If you attempt to lop off five months from the baby's age when you take him home, or when someone comes to visit, you will make a fool of yourself.

Down Under In Fashion Field

Latest fashions from Down Under were on display recently at the 1968 Australian Wool Fashion awards in Sydney. The three-piece ensemble (left) in camel and navy pure wool has a Sherlock Holmes cape and double-breasted mini-jacket. The evening gown is black and white, ruffled in black at neckline and cuffs. The two-piece suit is in aqua wool twill.

Fired Kennedy Cook Claims Book, TV Ambitions Cause

From UPI, AP

NEW YORK — Mrs. John F. Kennedy's German cook says she was fired Tuesday after word of her proposed cook book and television career ambitions got into print.

Annenmarie Huste, the cook, said Mrs. Kennedy apparently believed Annemarie was going to expose Mrs. Kennedy's private life to public scrutiny. The cook said she "didn't dream" of doing this.

She denied she was responsible for statements attributed to her in a published account relating her ambitions, and said it must have been a "close friend" who talked to a reporter.

Miss Huste said she has worked for Mrs. Kennedy for more than two years at $130 a week. Mrs. Kennedy declined comment.

The cook, 24, is hoping to make a pilot television series in the hope of syndicating it next fall when the cook book is published. The word about her plans was given by Maxine Cheshire, a syndicated Washington correspondent.

"I say to myself, I can make a million, too," Miss Huste was quoted as saying in connection with the money-making precivilities of the late showman Billy Rose.

The German-born cook who came to the U.S. at 16 was employed by Rose until his death two years ago.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

MONTREAL, April 18th — Wouldn't it be fun to own one of those sporty new 1968 cars? Before you start thinking negatively about the limitation of the family budget, let me inject this positive thought: With an easy-to-get low cost loan from THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA, that dream-car is yours — now. How? First — because your credit rating is excellent at Scotiabank, a loan is easy to get — (their only concern is that you are dependable and have a steady income). Second — because repayments are small, there's no strain on the family budget. So — why wait? See the friendly people at Scotiabank now!

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE TRAVEL to broaden your horizons... and your figure! I recently got back from Europe with 10 pounds excess weight... on me. (That French cuisine was too tempting). So naturally I put myself right on the SLIM-MINT GUM REDUCING PLAN. Results? Five pounds gone so far — without starvation diets or strenuous exercise! Other women I know report the same success. One tells me, "Instead of reaching for candy and sweets... I reach for Slim-Mints and my slim figure shows the difference." Another, "I didn't think I could do it, until I tried Slim-Mint." Why don't you try the effective Slim-Mint plan? You'll find it at any drugstore.

FRESH AND APPEALING as a new Spring flower. That's how you'll feel when you've discovered the beauty secret of DEMURE, a mint-fresh, gently medicated feminine douche to relieve irritation and help destroy odor-causing bacteria. With Demure you can be sure of personal cleanliness. After internal bathing with Demure, you'll feel fresh, beautifully poised. Make this part of your regular beauty care... ask for Demure in its slim, frosted plastic bottle at your family drugstore today! It's one of the easiest aids to loveliness I know.

SALT IN THE KITCHEN DOES MORE than just season food. To see what I mean, try these new uses for WINDSOR SALT in your kitchen: Add a pinch to cake icing while it's cooking to keep it from sugaring. Rub a bag of salt over your pancake griddle instead of grease — prevents sticking and smoke. Avoid lumpy gravy by adding salt to the flour you use for thickening. Take the bitter taste out of overcooked coffee with a little salt. Enough said? Now you know why I always keep plenty of Windsor Salt on hand in my house!

AT LONG LAST there is something we can do to hold back the years and keep our youthful complexions. Thanks to a wonderful new product called "WUNDER VEIL" with "V.P.F." This amazing new European discovery not only has an improved penetrating factor but contains a porosity factor as well that allows your skin to breathe when applied. Naturally, this action helps eliminate facial lines, wrinkles, crow's feet, crepeiness around the neck. All girls — 20 to 60 can now benefit from new Wunder Veil. A new trial size — enough for 2 or 3 weeks, and at only $1.50 is available at better cosmetic counters. Why not give Wunder Veil a try?

FINDING IT HARD TO SMILE because of uncomfortable, ill-fitting dentures? Then cheer up. The Pharmaco people have a product just made for you that will put an end to your present discomfort. Called CUSHION GRIP, it's a soft, pliable, thermoplastic that helps correct looseness, slipping, clicking or sore spots. You apply it at home, then enjoy weeks of blissful comfort — eating whatever you wish, smiling to your heart's content. Now, isn't that enough to cheer you up? Look for Cushion Grip at your nearest drug counter, covered by a money-back guarantee. For a trial supply, send 25¢ with your name and address to Pharmaco (Canada) Ltd., Pointe Claire, P.Q. Offer open to residents of Canada only.

Nurses Visited 2,204 Patients

Miss Betty Short, senior nurse, told the board of management of Victorian Order of Nurses at its monthly meeting in Spencerhouse, that the nurses had made 2,204 visits to patients in March, including 70 night calls.

Other duties included lectures on mental health, instruction to student nurses, and regular counselling at the Silver Threads Centre.

As extra office space is required the board voted to apply for the space on the second floor of Spencerhouse when it is vacated later this year.

Mrs. Charles Simpson, newly-elected president, pointed out the Order hopes future efforts will cover mental health and more complete professional home care.

Guest speaker, Dr. G. D. Cameron, retired federal deputy minister of health, said nurses attracted to service in the VON had a "special integrity and devotion" to their profession not easy to find. "Cherish your nurses," was his advice.

Board members thanked the Women's Auxiliary for its work in convening the recent successful rummage sale which realized $1,100.

PERSONAL MENTION

By Dorothy Wrotnowski

Wednesday was a big day for 99 Girl Guides and Rangers from all over the province. The occasion was the annual Gold Cord Ceremony at Government House when His Honor the Lieutenant Governor presented the high award.

There should have been 100 girls but to date nobody knows what happened to No. 99, Diane Young of Trail, a Gold Cord winner, was the only one not on hand to receive her award from Mr. Pearkes.

The ceremony and tea at Government House ended the day-long Guide activities. Mrs. K. B. Clydsdale of St. Mary's near Toronto, Canada's Chief Commissioner, who is making her first official visit to this province, was here for the day. She was accompanied from Vancouver by Provincial Commissioner Mrs. J. S. Kendrick.

At a coffee party in the new Guide hall on Wednesday morning, Mrs. Clydsdale presented the Medal of Merit to Mrs. H. P. McKeever, area commissioner.

Mrs. McKeever has been with the Guides for many years both in Ireland and in Victoria. She has been area commissioner for two years, deputy commissioner for three before that and was in turn Brown Owl, captain and district commissioner at Lake Hill in Camosun Craigflower District.

After the coffee party Mrs. Pearkes, Mrs. Clydsdale and Mrs. Kendrick attended the luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

A Bit of Sun, a Gentle Breeze —A Few Hours of Free Time

By TRUDY KEMP

A bit of sun, a gentle breeze, and a few hours of free time soon bring out the fishing and boating enthusiasts around this area.

Wednesday afternoon was such a day.

On my way to work along an eight-mile stretch on the Pat Bay Highway I counted at least eight boats on trailers and a number of small boats on car roof racks, heading for the fine boating waters at the end of the Sannich peninsula.

Weather permitting, in a few days my husband, Jack, and I will be heading up Island to Boat Harbor, to put our own little craft in shape for the fast approaching fun-time season.

Scrub Indicated

For convenience we left our pride and joy, dubbed the Disco Volante, tied up at a private dock during the winter. Needless to say it is in a bit of a mess but nothing that a good scrub down won't cure.

Last year's beautiful tropical summer was for some a nightmare of forest fires, for others a real fun-in-the-sun time, and for us one LONG HAUL.

It was the year we started to build our little summer cottage. It couldn't have been a better year for building — weatherwise that is — but, oh boy, was it hot work!

When you are building on a small island where there is no transportation except by your own boat, the ways to get your lumber and supplies to the site are limited.

More Exciting

Hiring someone with a barge to haul the lumber over is perhaps the most satisfactory way and certainly less time consuming. But doing it the way we did proved to be more exciting, if at times somewhat frustrating. It also gave us a feeling of accomplishment.

Fun-Time Season Nears for Islanders

We hauled all the lumber, including shakes for the roof, for our 400 square foot cottage, on a small, somewhat shaky scow or in our 12-foot clinker, behind our 16-foot deep-V boat.

To say this was less expensive is a bit doubtful but it was fun and quite an experience. It also had its moments of near-tragedy which are now funny to look back on.

We had purchased most of our lumber several months earlier and had it stacked in the bush at a friend's place in the Cedar district.

Tow Truck

Several weekends before our holidays we started to haul our supplies to Boat Harbor but not the more sensible way by loading up a truck.

Instead, we hitched our box trailer to our imported car, which was used as a tow truck all last summer.

We made numerous trips over several miles of rough, gravel roads to our boat. The trailer was loaded with everything from cement foundation blocks, extra-long 5x8's for beams, and studs to sheets of plywood for floors and walls.

One such trip, on one of the hottest days in August, found us hauling a huge load of plywood. We were anxious to hurry this last load of the day so that we could have an hour or so to swim and relax before dinner.

It was not meant to be! About three-quarters of the way up the dreaded long hill on the road to Boat Harbor the poor car decided it had had enough and stalled.

Our loaded trailer started to slide toward the steep embankment.

It could visualize plywood, trailer, car and us, including two poodles, at the bottom of the embankment.

Jack pulled on the hand brake, turned off the key, and calmly said: "Okay everyone out!"

"Now what?" I asked, looking at the trailer sprawled half-way across the road.

"We'll just have to unload the plywood and carry it down to the bottom of the hill," he said.

So unload it we did, carrying each sheet of plywood down that long hill.

Next step was to unhitch the trailer, pull it down too, back the car down, reload, and start all over again.

Another Day

Needless to say by the time we reached the dock, loaded the skiff and headed for our little island retreat it was late. Our hour of relaxation in the sun had to wait another day.

Another time we decided to make one extra trip and it was dark when we reached the island. It's a good thing I didn't know until the next day that a small pod of killer whales had been fishing at the entrance to our bay a short time before we arrived.

The day the old scow almost gave up the ghost was another to remember.

We hadn't been over to Boat Harbor for several days, what with building and a bit of rough weather. This day we decided to chance it and go over for supplies.

About a quarter of the way over we ran into a heavy wash from a passing boat. This, coupled with the rough water, caused a bit of a catastrophe.

All we could see when we looked behind were bits of lumber flying in every which way. It turned out to be the scraps in the bottom of the scow.

"You would swear it had been torpedoed," quipped Jack after he had regained his sense of humor.

The scow hadn't sunk ... We could not cut it loose because it would have been a navigation hazard, as it was completely submerged.

Half Straits

Towing the barge and what seemed like half the Straits of Georgia to Boat Harbor took us close to an hour instead of the normal 15 minutes.

Our last incident of the summer also involved this cranky old scow. This time the trusty outboard motor on the boat was not quite so trusty and decided to act up.

You guessed it ... We were loaded for bear ... a scow full of cedar shakes ... the water was rough and we were battling for time. We nearly lost all our shakes and came close to ending up on the rocks.

By luck and a bit of strong persuasive language from both of us the motor decided to perk up enough to get us to safety.

The scow was left tied up in the cove on the island. We have yet to find out if it rode out the storms of the winter.

In spite of everything, we managed to build up to the roof of our cottage and this summer's project calls for windows and the shakes.

Here's hoping it won't be such a LONG HAUL as 1967.

Wives, Mice, Speed

BIRKENHEAD, England (CP) — Tony Reuben explained he had a good reason for speeding—he was trying to get home to rescue his wife from a mouse. She telephoned him at work and he dropped everything. But he was trapped himself. Reuben was fined $52 and banned from driving for six months.

Cosmetics vs. Apartment

Marjorie Kent is back in town with a brand new enthusiasm. But then she's a gal with built-in enthusiasms.

For years it was golf—that was followed by fishing—she'd be hunting for waters to fish no matter what part of the country she was in.

Now it is her brand new apartment which according to Marjorie is going "to be the most elegant bachelor apartment in Toronto."

All these enthusiasms really take second place. Her first is the cosmetic house she represents, Germaine Montell. And if you happen to be in The Bay this week you'll see what I mean.

Germaine Montell cosmetics are among the best in the field but I'm sure even if they were n't Marjorie wouldn't take long to convince you of all the wonderful things these cosmetics can do for you.

And when the firm puts out a new product you really hear about it. For instance, the new cream make up base Half-You. Marjorie insists this product just floats onto the face and never leaves so much as a small line.

New Bath Luxuries

And there are some new bath luxuries in that subtle Royal Secret perfume.

Of course, Montell puts out the super moist and glistening lipsticks in such intriguing shades as pink splash, sea anemone, golden coral and new ones like brilliant strawberry, early rose and tangerine.

Back to Marjorie and her Toronto north end apartment which she has decorated in lovely soft turquoise and moss green shades. And she has swatches of the brocade chesterfield cover, and of the deep pile leaf green rug.

Marjorie hasn't had a home of her own for 20 years — she says it is like learning house-keeping all over again with all the new things on the market. So you can't really blame her for mixing apartment talk with how to beautify yourself.

One tip she would like to pass along for career women like herself who must keep files and such around the home. She solved this problem (files aren't elegant) by having a book case built with space underneath for the files which she has covered with attractive contact paper making it look like part of the wall.

Blaiberg Nearly Ready To Drive His Own Car

© The man with the borrowed heart, Cape Town dentist Philip Blaiberg, is the only man to survive heart transplant surgery. His operation Jan. 3 propelled surgeon Dr. Christiaan Barnard into world fame. Dr. Blaiberg and his wife Elvira trace the patient's progress and reaction on his return home in occasional articles.

By EILEEN BLAIBERG

I never thought that within days of his leaving the hospital, Phil and I would start arguing. But it has happened. And over the most trivial matter.

Phil is terribly unmaterialistic, especially when it comes to clothes. He has three rather elderly suits and an assortment of indifferent flannel trousers. His prize garment, of course, is the jacket bearing the London dental hospital crest which he wore when he came home. But now he is beginning to make more and more trips in and around Cape Town. I really feel he ought to have new clothes. Yet to talk clothes to him is like waving a red rag at a bull. Clearly I cannot allow him to argue in earnest so I give in.

There is one battle, however, that I have won. I managed to persuade him that his old slippers, they are exactly eight years old, were not good enough to protect his feet around the house.

All that I have now said may sound very ungrateful. But this is far from the truth. I am in fact deeply aware that the fact that Phil is now so strong that he can afford to be stubborn deserves my deepest gratitude.

His progress over these past days has been quite meteoric. Already the muscles in his legs are looking sturdier and he is walking with far greater assurance.

Phil has become so ambitious that he talks confidently of taking me on a grand tour of Europe in a year's time. I expect to see him driving his own car by the month of May. He is treating his progress cautiously and takes each new venture quietly in his stride. I expect him to be completely self-sufficient within a matter of weeks.

I can say all this today with confidence. Yet how different it was only two weeks ago when I hardly dared to be optimistic.

But I believe that little of Phil's progress is actually due to any of my help. It is his own enormous strength of character and perseverance that is helping him through these crucial days of rehabilitation.

Yet he himself is not surprised by the strides he is now making towards recovery. "Don't forget I've got a heart that is half the age of yours," he keeps telling me. His blood pressure hovers between 140 and 145, which, according to his reckoning, is equivalent to that of a man of 44.

Ever since the operation, Phil has insisted that his own participation in its success was nil. He repeatedly stresses that he is no hero and that his decision to undergo a heart transplant required no particular bravery.

Some of the nurses and doctors had heard about Phil's comments and they were the first to tell me that he had grossly underestimated himself.

And I was very touched when they told me that they would never forget his high spirit.

At night he insists we sit together answering every letter from well-wishers the world over. Since his return they have been arriving in batches of 50 or 60 a day. And between us we have answered more than 1,000.

Both of us, together with our maid Katie, have settled into a regular family routine. My big day has passed. We celebrated our 32nd wedding anniversary April 5. And never before had an anniversary meant so much to me.

Psychedelic paint shines in mishmash of colors

Glowing Fence Makes Neighbors Burn

VANCOUVER (CP) — As Arthur Cowie explains it, he needed a garden fence because he has a small daughter.

He started building it. But parts of it were over the four-foot maximum height set down by zoning bylaws.

The city's technical planning board asked 10 property owners if they objected to the height and eight of them said they did.

After fruitless appeals to planners, the 33-year-old landscape architect student cut the fence down to size.

The fence now carries a sign explaining that, in its present condition, it complies with Bylaw 3575, section 10, subsection 7.

But its present condition is giving Mr. Cowie's neighbors heartburn.

He invited a dozen fellow planning students at University of British Columbia to help him paint it.

They did: In a mishmash of psychedelic patterns in red, yellow, blue and green phosphorescent paint, studded with inner tubes and old shoes.

The whole thing glows in the dark.

Barnard Council Verdict

No Dining at College For Errant Co-Ed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Barnard College's student-faculty judicial council reprimanded sophomore Linda Leclair, 20, Wednesday for sharing an off-campus apartment with her boyfriend and recommended she be banned from college social events and dining facilities.

But Linda was allowed to stay in school, at least for the time being. "I sort of expected them to come up with something sensible," she said. "After all, they're sensible people."

The action of the council, which held a hearing on charges that Miss Leclair had violated Barnard housing rules, is subject to approval by college president Margaret Peterson. It could have recommended expulsion for the student.

OTHER QUESTIONS

The council said Miss Leclair was guilty as charged, but noted "a number of serious questions of principle might be raised with respect to the current housing regulations themselves."

"It recommended Miss Peterson and appropriate college committees undertake 'thorough revisions of such regulations with a view to eliminating any suggestion of discriminatory practice or infringement of basic human rights.'"

The blonde from Hudson, N.H., has been living for two years with Peter Behr, 20-year-old Columbia University junior, although Barnard rules bar students from outside the metropolitan area from living anywhere but in dormitories until they are 21, unless they hold live-in jobs.

Miss Leclair originally got permission to live off campus through the ruse of having a friend pose as a mother who needed a live-in babysitter.

Desert Home For Bridge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Famed old London Bridge will be moved from the banks of the Thames to the Arizona desert where it will be reconstructed at the Colorado River near Lake Havasu City, it was reported Wednesday.

The McCulloch Corporation, developers of Lake Havasu City, were said to have been the successful bidders for the 136-year-old successor to the first London Bridge built in Roman times.

A spokesman for McCulloch Corp. declined to comment on the reported purchase. A formal announcement of the buyer was to be made today in New York and London.

Lake Havasu City, a resort area, is on the banks of man-made Lake Havasu, a 100-mile body of water backed up by Parker Dam on the California-Arizona border. It is 240 miles east of Los Angeles and 140 miles west of Phoenix.

The McCulloch Corp. is the world's largest producers of chain saws and has a factory located there.

U.S.-Studying Canadians

Operation Retrieval in High

OTTAWA (CP) — Of the estimated 12,000 Canadian-born students studying at universities in the United States, at least half will not return to Canada.

Trying to make sure the other 6,000 do come back is the federal manpower department's Operation Retrieval. The program also reaches out to students overseas.

Aims of the program are twofold: to keep Canadian students abroad informed about developments at home and job opportunities open to them; and to see they are actively considered for vacancies as they would be if they were studying at home.

UP TO 8,000

Up to 6,000 of the students are written off because they have emigrated to the U.S., either with their parents or on their own.

The department inherited the program from the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada. For many years the association sent out teams to U.S. campuses to recruit teaching staffs for Canadian universities. It found that while not too many of the students approached were interested in teaching careers, they were concerned about other job vacancies in Canada. Many felt Canadian firms and the federal government were not much interested in their futures.

While the manpower department now has been involved in Operation Retrieval for the last two years, it is only since last November it went into high gear.

In the present academic year, four-man teams from Operation Retrieval visited 37 universities in the U.S. Team members included one from the Manpower department, two from the Association of Universities and Colleges in Canada and one from the public service commission.

Students are encouraged to fill out forms listing their fields of study, when they will graduate, date available for work and where they would prefer to be located.

More than 400 such forms were sent to major Canadian firms last year. This year the departments mailing out 1,300 of them.

Needless Word for Strollers

Pedestrian traffic signal seems unnecessary for strollers planning walk along front of Empress Hotel where workmen are moving sidewalk 10 feet east of former location. When Causeway widening program is finished there will be width for equivalent of two more traffic lanes. This will, in opinion of city traffic engineer David Campbell, ease congestion.—(William E. John)

Sunny Drives Suspected As Skin Cancer Cause

PASADENA (LAT) — Men have more skin cancers on the left side of the face and neck than they have on the right side, a surgeon and radiologist said here Wednesday.

The complement to this curious medical fact is another curious fact: Women have more skin cancers on the right side.

Dr. E. W. Demaree, who studies 10,000 cases of skin cancer, said in an interview that men have more skin cancers on the left side because they drive automobiles more than women, and the left cheek, ear, and neck, as well as the left side of the lips, are more exposed to sunshine and wind.

He said women have more skin cancers on the right side because they more often are front seat passengers, and it is the right side that gets more sunlight and wind.

Dr. Demaree discussed his research in a talk Wednesday before an organization of specialists in the diagnosis and treatment of cancer. He said the difference between the right and left side incidence of cancer is much greater in men than women. With males, 57 per cent of all skin cancers are on the left side of the face and neck. The contrast is much less with women, with whom preponderance of right side cancers is only slightly more than 50 per cent.

“With people born before 1900 there is little or no difference between the right and left sides,” Dr. Demaree said.

“Both men and women of that era have skin cancers equally divided between the two sides of the face and neck.”

But starting with people born in 1900 the sex difference is noticeable.

“It is the men drivers born in this century who have the most striking preponderance of left-hand side cancers,” Dr. Demaree said.

Cancer of the lip is 20 times more frequent in men than women, Dr. Demaree said. Although this is partly due to the fact that more men smoke, it is chiefly due to their greater exposure to sun and wind, he said.

VANCOUVER (CP) — More than 2,000 drunks have been sobered up under a Vancouver police program that does not charge offenders. Police take drunks to the city jail, record their names and place them in a bare room until they sober up. Then they are released without any charges being laid.

Munch, gobble and swallow fresh B.C. oysters. Wallow in luxury at ludicrous cost . . . let the pearls fall where they may. Raw, fried, stewed or broiled, oysters are the tastiest shellfish of all . . . beautiful bivalves that deny the palatine palate nothing . . . juicy goodness oozes unendingly . . . oh why go on! Eat oysters tonight and see.

Delightful recipes with fresh B.C. oysters are contained in our colourful free folder. For your copy, write: B.C. Oyster Association, P.O. Box 970, Ladysmith, B.C.

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—A Nobel Prize-winning chemist from Finland said Tuesday that Western man is eating too well and growing too big for his own heart and his own good.

Dr. Artturi Virtanen, widely known for his efforts to fight world hunger, said, “Man is growing higher and higher and we don't know if it is good or not.”

The reason, he said, is that the heart is not growing in proportion to the growing height of Western man, and it has to work harder to pump blood into more tiny blood vessels, farther away from the pumping source. He suggested the leaner diet of Asians may be best.

Here's the new Maggi*

It crumbles at a touch.

Maggi chicken cubes are really chicken at heart. And they just can't wait to give up their famous chicken flavour. That's why we call them "chicken" chicken cubes.

Maggi chicken cubes instantly make a delicious clear bouillon. Flavour a stew or a casserole. A rice or vegetable dish. Or anything you're cooking up. Crumble one and find out for yourself. They're great. After all, in the bouillon business you just can't be too chicken.

Aiming for June

Covered Pool Top Priority

NORTH COWICHAN — Although this area offers plenty of outdoor swimming facilities, the municipality should provide a covered swimming pool for year-round training, said Earl O'Neill.

The new North Cowichan recreation director stressed continuous swimming instruction for young and older people should be made available, in an area where boating is a main recreation and beaches are plentiful.

Mr. O'Neill arrived here two weeks ago with his wife and four children, Kevin, 7, Casey, 5, Lauren, 3, and Darren, 2.

Well-seasoned in recreational matters, the new director gathered experience all across Canada.

His last position was with the town of Peace River, which has a population of 5,000.

He was born and educated in Regina.

He lauded the attempt to work school facilities into the recreational program.

"It is a growing trend, but unfortunately not all areas do it."

In reference to the Fuller's Lake Arena, now under construction, Mr. O'Neill commented "It is a very impressive building, but I look at it from the programming point of view and I think some of the drawbacks can be rectified."

He said there should be more dressing space.

"It is a very sound building and maximum use will be gained from this facility."

He said during the summer months the arena can be used for roller skating, dances, exhibitions and a variety of other activities.

"The whole area will benefit from this arena."

Commenting on the Sanderson recreation report, which he described as comprehensive, Mr. O'Neill remarked "I certainly think a large indoor facility is needed."

New Duncan Plant Hinted

By JEAN MACGREGOR

DUNCAN — The two main ingredients in an industrial development program are research and promotion, said Ray Kersey, of Victoria.

He is industrial commissioner of the Industrial Development Department of the government. Mr. Kersey was speaker at a meeting of the Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce.

He explained his department's research program, and he added the chamber's industrial development committee can use the same type of research.

The first step, he said, is to compile details "of general interest to businessmen."

"This type of research can give you an almost complete coverage of the area," he said.

He also mentioned market studies, and Mr. Kersey noted "you will have to do some of the government to do it all."

He mentioned a study on the glass industry carried out by his department about six years ago.

"We found there was a potential market worth $4 million in B.C.," he said.

"We sent this information to every company connected with the glass industry, and four years later Doniphan Glass put in a plant at Burnaby."

Discussing the promotion program, Mr. Kersey said his department sends out between 40 and 50 letters a week to selected industries.

The letters ask, are you interested in establishing a branch plant in our province?

Mr. Kersey said the letters also give an important alternative: are you interested in manufacturing products under licence?

The department also produces composite industrial maps of various districts which designate the areas which are zoned for heavy or light industry.

He cited the example of a map of Greater Vancouver which covers from Roberts Bank to Port Coquitlam.

"We send out about 10 copies of this map a week," he said.

Mr. Kersey hinted at the potential development of a new industry in the North Cowichan area.

He said the possible establishment of this industry in the district has been brought about through extensive promotion by Mr. Hawthornthwaite and the Industrial Development branch.

Mr. Kersey noted several examples of businesses and industries which could be established in the Duncan area.

He said, "I know of one man in Winnipeg who is in the leather goods business. He told me he is tired of shovelling snow, and he intends coming to B.C. within the next year.

"He is considering the Victoria area, but there is no reason why he could not come into the Duncan area."

LAKE COWICHAN — An official of the search party which looked for drowning victims along the Cowichan River, said reports of "heartlessness" of riverbank residents were founded on a single incident.

The search party was looking for a missing Victoria man and his son, after they vanished in the river this week.

The official said a single property owner ordered the search party off her land.

Earl LaForge, president of the Valley Fish and Game Association at Lake Cowichan, which took part in the Riverbottom Road area did ask the men to get off her property.

"But she did not realize what was going on," he said.

"Once it was explained to her that the men were searching for two bodies, she calmed down."

Mr. LaForge said the game warden, travelling with the searchers, "straightened her out in a hurry."

He added riverfront property owners cannot stop people from walking on the bank. "The property boundary line ends 10 feet above the water line."

"The incident did bother the men," he said. "Most of them did not want to be there in the first place, but they had a job to do, and they were upset about it."

Fast president of the Cowichan Fish and Game Association, Annie Williams of Duncan, stated he had not heard of any of the searchers being ordered off the riverbanks by property owners.

Mr. Williams said, "People are awfully small and childish when it comes to private property. 'Here is a case where a young man is lost and presumed drowned. The wife is worried and near hysterics because of the tragedy, and then you hear that some people won't allow the search party to search the river.'"

With regard to the attitude of some riverfront property owners, Mr. Williams stated, "This is one of the reasons why we built the footpath on the south side of the river."

Meanwhile, on Wednesday, police at Lake Cowichan reported that nothing has turned up in the search for the body of Bill Petersen, 18, of Victoria.

FATHER FOUND
His father, John Petersen, 43, was found Tuesday at noon.

The foot search was called off Tuesday night after the riverbank on both sides of the river had been covered.

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESNUT

From time to time readers have accused me of describing plants as being "as easy to grow as a radish" when, in fact, the complainer had no luck with them at all.

This may well be true, for ease of culture is a comparative thing; I suppose there are folks who don't have any luck with radishes either.

One plant, though, which is truly easy to grow by anybody's standards is the water lily, and for a very good reason. Being wholly or partially immersed in water, they are insulated from most of the climatic shocks suffered by terrestrial plants.

You can't over-water them, you can't under-water them. They are protected from blustering winds and insulated against violent changes in temperature.

The water in which they live cushions them not only against many natural hazards, but against a good deal of human mismanagement too.

For example, one Sunday afternoon when I was pottering in my garden, a neighbour asked me to come and have a look at her water lily which, while growing well, wouldn't produce any flowers.

On investigation, I was amazed that the thing was living at all, much less making some growth, for it was floating freely in a concrete pool that contained no soil at all. Its owner didn't know that water lilies had to be planted — she bought the plant and just threw it in the pool!

It is true that there are a few true "floaters" among the aquatic plants — plants which can grow in water without any anchorage — but all water lilies and most of the other pond plants require planting in the orthodox fashion, with their roots firmly pressed into soil, either in the bottom of the pond or in a submerged container of some sort.

The heavier the soil, the better they like it, but these plants are not unduly fussy and will thrive in almost anything except light peaty soil or sand.

Nearly all our aquatic plants are perennial, dying in the autumn, sprouting again from the roots in the spring, and increasing from year to year so that occasional division becomes necessary.

They are easy to establish if planting or transplanting is done at the proper time of the year, but it is not good to go messing around with them when they are dormant, between October and March.

The best time for buying and planting, or for lifting, dividing and replanting, is when growth is active and the water is warm enough to encourage new growth with a minimum of setback. Generally speaking, from the middle of May to the middle of July will provide best conditions, with some preference for the early part of June.

The three requirements for successful culture of water lilies are plenty of sunshine, rich soil, and quiet, shallow water. Many folks seem to be the idea that running water is to be preferred in a lily pool — this is not the case; water lilies and nearly all the other aquatics do best in still water.

While it is possible to spread soil on the bottom of your pool, I think it is simpler and more satisfactory to plant in boxes or baskets, allowing at least one cubic foot of soil for each root, more if space permits. A box 18 inches square and 12 inches deep is just about ideal for one plant.

One horticultural event for which Victoria can be proud is the annual spring show of the Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society, considered by experts to be the finest display of its kind in North America.

While special emphasis is placed on native plants of the Pacific Northwest, particularly those of the high mountain meadows and moraines, there will be unusually complete collections of alpine and woodland plants from the far corners of the earth, together with dwarf rhododendrons, rare ferns, and bonsai.

This year the show is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, April 19 and 20, at Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall. Doors will be open from 2 to 10 p.m. on Friday and from 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Saturday. Admission is 50 cents.

ART BUCHWALD Visits a Rumor Factory

'Say, Heard the Latest?'

WASHINGTON—While many businesses suffered during the recent disturbances in American cities, there was one that thrived — and that was rumor-making. The rumor factories in Washington were going full steam during the crisis and still they couldn't keep up with the demand.

I visited a rumor factory the other day and was given a tour by the foreman, a jolly, round-faced man named Clarence, who has been manufacturing rumors for 30 years.

"We've been going 24 hours a day for the last two weeks, and we've yet to fill all our orders," Clarence said as we walked around the large air-conditioned building.

"I know this is a silly question," I said, "but how do you make a rumor?"

"It's not hard once you get the formula," Clarence told me. "Over here we have the raw facts. Now you mix them with gossip and fantasy, put it through this machine, and it comes out a solid rumor."

"The process doesn't take long, a matter of minutes; but in order for a rumor to have any substance, it has to be kept hot. That's what those burners over there are for. They can heat up a rumor in seconds."

"Where do you get your raw materials?" I asked him.

"Mostly from bars and hairdressers. We have a staff that does nothing but collect bits and pieces of rumor material which they bring in at the end of the day. The ones we don't use right away, we bale and store in a warehouse for later use."

"For example, right now, because of public demand, we've been working on racial rumors, so we've been storing the political tid-bits for later on in the year, just before the conventions."

"Before we switched to racial rumors, we had a big run on Vietnam rumors, but that's died down for the moment."

"How do you distribute your rumors?"

"Distribution is no problem. A lot of them are distributed through taxi drivers; others are dropped off at the press club; some are left on street corners, and, of course, there's always the telephone. During a racial crisis our rumors hardly get out the door before they're grabbed up and spread all over town."

"We walked into another room where several women were inspecting the rumors as they came off the line."

"This is our quality control division. Every rumor that leaves our factory is carefully inspected for holes in it."

"Then you do reject rumors?" I asked.

"We certainly do. A rumor has to withstand tremendous pressure in order to work. If it doesn't hold up, it's not going to be circulated, and pretty soon people will be going other places to buy their rumors. We've even called in rumors because of a flaw we've discovered in them after they've left the factory."

We walked to another part of the factory and the foreman said: "This is our research and development division. We're constantly trying to find new methods of making rumors. We had a big breakthrough not long ago. We found out a way of taking old rumors and using them again."

"One of our lab assistants discovered that by taking a rumor circulated in Chicago and doctoring it slightly and fixing it up, it would look like a brand new rumor for Washington."

"We're franchising the process to other cities. They'll buy our old racial rumors and in exchange, we'll buy their old rumors. This source of supply will go on forever."

"What happens when you put out a rumor and it turns out to be true?"

"When we let a rumor go, it's a genuine rumor. And there is no truth to it. We have no control over people who will misuse it for their own benefit."

"As with gun manufacturers, our responsibility stops when our product leaves the factory doors. We can't help it when a hot rumor hits the cold air and becomes a fact."

Cary in Business

GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Cary Grant, the business man. Cary is more excited about his business investment these days than in reading the pile of scripts waiting for him in his Universal studio bungalow. The suave, 64-year-old actor, now recuperating from his quite serious auto accident — at one time in the hospital he thought his last hour had come — has invested heavily in Rayette-Faberge toiletries and in Granite aircraft leasing. He is on the boards of both companies and plans to travel extensively for them.

And you know he will do very well. Cary and his close friend, businessman George Barrie, are planning a straw hat party for Maurice Chevalier, on May 22, the night before the 80-year-old legend leaves America to settle into retirement on his farm near Paris. Straw Hat perfume just happens to be one of the Faberge products and the party will be held at the New York office-townhouse-showroom. It's a new way of life and a new career for Mr. Grant.

Virginia Graham told me she had been robbed of some of her jewels during her recent stay in London at the Dorchester Hotel. "They took a bracelet, a ring and a diamond spray brooch that Napoleon had given to Josephine," my namesake said sadly. She was insured, but how can you replace a brooch like that?

In London, Richard Burton, on the set of Where Eagles Dare, was feeling good, reminiscing of his childhood. Burton's love of his family is wonderful to hear. He does so much for them and, even better, treats them with respect. Often people who think they are helping their family are merely pushing them around. But not Richard.

Stanley Baker will co-produce A Nice Girl Like Me for Jon Levine. Barbara Ferris, of Girl in My Soup, will be the nice girl who gets pregnant all the time... Franchot Tone is well enough to play a cameo role in The High Commissioner with Dahlia Lavi and Camilla Sparv... Eleanor Perry off to Paris to deliver her screen script, Woman in the Car, to Anatole Litvak.

Science and Genesis

ROSENBERG

Do not seek to prove creation in the test tube of a laboratory — indeed, no scientist worthy of the name would admit that it is possible to disprove it.

The thoughtful scientist can readily agree to a beginning which points to divine mind. No scientist has ever seen an electron, nor does he think that anyone ever could. Yet nothing is more real to a scientist than an electron.

Most of us would call a table or a chair real because we can see it or touch it, but a scientist knows that the table and chair are not real, even though these can be seen.

To him, the chair and the table are nothing more than a swirling set of electric charges which he calls electrons.

Reality to a scientist is not simply that which can be seen with the eye or touched with the hand. Reality is that which is universally experienced!

The scientist who is also an artist — one who is wise, not only clever — understands that creation can be believed in, even though one cannot prove it. Indeed, when creation is believed in, even evolution becomes meaningful.

For at every stage of the evolutionary changes we still need to supply an answer to the question: What causes the change?

Some biologists tell us that man is descended from the ape. Genesis suggests that whatever man came from, he did not descend — he ascended.

All of nature came before him, so that he might know and understand that he was set apart — from the ape and from the beasts — that he might grow and aspire in a world created purposefully and by divine plan.

Yet he predominates — nature is in his hands, under his influence and protection.

The astronomer asks: What is man? His answer may suggest that man is but a speck in a far-flung universe beyond his control. The biologist asks: What is man? He too may reply that man is but a near cousin to the ape.

But Genesis suggests a greater wisdom. Remember, man is the astronomer, and the biologist. He is like dust, but there is a divine spark which animates the dust until it is illumined to think, to feel, to dream and to aspire.

Ostler Dismisses Abduction Charge

An abduction charge laid against an Ontario doctor was dismissed by Magistrate William Ostler in central magistrate's court Wednesday because the evidence introduced by the Crown "in no way supports the charge."

Glen Gold Stewart of St. Thomas, Ont., was charged with unlawfully detaining Craig Stewart in the district of Oak Bay between Dec. 26 and Jan. 3.

Magistrate Ostler said to prosecutor Peter Birkett: "I think the charge is improperly drafted. The evidence you led in no way supports the charge."

OTHERS POSSIBLE

"I think the Crown might have drafted two or three charges which the evidence might have supported. But this is not one of them."

Mr. Birkett argued that the detention became effective when Stewart failed to return the child to the mother's home in Oak Bay.

Mrs. Kathleen Stewart said she married Stewart in October, 1955, and had four children by him. They were divorced last month.

VISITING RIGHTS

Mrs. Stewart said an order was made Dec. 22, 1967, in Supreme Court chambers giving her husband certain visiting rights.

He was allowed to take the children from Dec. 26 to Jan. 2 to Sismous, where he was practising.

"I next saw the children in the London, Ont., airport on March 29," Mrs. Stewart said.

A police check of a man found early Wednesday morning behind the Bank of Montreal, 1771 Fort, led to a cash register stolen in a break-in Sunday at Canton Chinese Food, 1815 Fort.

Sgt. Gordon Bennett said he checked Joseph Badour, 29, behind the bank at about 1:40 a.m. Wednesday. Badour told him he was lost and the policeman went with Badour to his suite at 1612 Richmond.

There he found the stolen cash register and Alexander Robert Wilks, aged 30.

Wilks pleaded guilty to breaking into the Canton and stealing $30 and the cash register, and Badour pleaded guilty to having the stolen cash register in his possession.

Wilks was remanded to April 24 for a pre-sentence report and Badour, who admitted previous convictions for breaking and entering, was remanded to Friday for sentence.

Singers Help Clinic

A 46-voice choir from California Saturday night will sing for the new handicapped children's clinic.

A Cappella Choir — which means it does not have an accompaniment — from Allan Hancock College at Santa Maria was touring northwest Washington and Vancouver when it heard about the fund drive in Victoria. The students, between 19 and 23 years old, were so impressed with the need of a new clinic that they decided to appear without charging the sponsors here.

EASTER TOUR

The clinic is selling tickets at $1 for the program, which starts at 8 p.m. in Victoria high school auditorium.

The college choir tours during the Easter holidays. Last year, it made its first trip, a 2,000-mile concert series through California, Nevada and Utah.

Richard P. Condie, director of the Mormon Tabernacle Choir in Salt Lake City, Utah, said the A Cappella Choir is one of the best he has heard.

The handicapped children's fund drive has raised about $150,000 of its $250,000 objective. Tickets for the concert may be obtained by calling 385-0313 or 385-1411.

Board Announces Principalships

Greater Victoria School Board Wednesday announced appointments to two principals positions which are effective Sept. 1.

Elved Davies, now principal at Lampson elementary, becomes principal of the larger Oaklands elementary and Robert Tubman, now at Central junior high school, becomes principal of Dean Heights occupational school.

The board also announced the appointment of Donald Falder, now at Frank Hobbs elementary school, as an administrative assistant at school board headquarters and H. A. Fraser as the board's assistant secretary-treasurer.

Sgt. Bennett said Wilks said he cheated the lock of the rear door at the Canton and, when unable to open the cash register, took it back to the suite. There Badour helped him open it and they split the money.

It is cheaper in Oak Bay to own a dog for a year than for six months, Magistrate Ostler pointed out.

Robert Burrows of 1216 St. Patrick pleaded guilty to a charge of allowing his dog to be at large and to not having a dog licence.

But he said that he usually bought the licence in March, adding that the bylaw said the licences cost $4 from Jan. 1 to March 31. From April 1 onward, they cost $5.

NOT SURPRISED

The bylaw also states that the licences expire Dec. 31 of each year, court was told.

Magistrate Ostler fined Burrows $10 for allowing his dog to be at large, but suspended sentence on the second count.

He said: "I am not surprised you are confused about the second count."

Also fined $10 for allowing their dogs to be at large: Shirley Cormack, 2554 Bowker; Kenneth Larsen, 1392 St. David.

Gordon McKay took a taxi to the corner of Trans-Canada Highway and Brock Feb. 24 and told the driver he was going into his home to get some clothing and would then want a ride back to Victoria.

The driver waited more than 30 minutes and then called Colwood RCMP. Police checked the home where McKay was seen to go, but found that he lived several houses away.

McKay, of 2865 Florence Lake, pleaded guilty to false pretences and was remanded to April 24 for sentence. He admitted previous convictions for false pretences. The taxi bill totalled $8.20.

Fined for impaired driving: Robert Tulloch, 2846 Austin, $400, licence suspended; Wade Burns, 3498 Lovat, $300, licence suspended.

Antonin Cote, 21, of Vancouver was given a suspended sentence and placed on a $250 bond for six months for stealing a steak worth 93 cents April 9 from Woodward's. He pleaded guilty last week.

Gordon Goeghegan of 23 Menzies was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty of causing a disturbance Tuesday on Menzies by being drunk.

Fined for careless driving: Gary Moore, 107 Ladysmith, $35, licence suspended; Erich Zarf, 2787 Jacklin, $35, licence suspended.

Two boys, aged 11 and 14, were charged in Sooke magistrate's court Tuesday with four counts of breaking, entering and theft and one count of breaking and entering with intent to steal. They were charged with three counts of breaking into Edward Milne high school, one of entering Saseenos junior high school and one of breaking into the Sooke Catholic church. The offences occurred between March 22 and April 2.

Eastern Influence Felt

Artist Tackles Peaks

By INA D. D. UTHOFF

A new influence is beginning to make itself felt, in the work of Dennis Lucas of Eastern Canada.

Though still in the experimental stages, his search for material that has not been handled in just this way may capture, in paint, the weight of Canadian mountains.

This is no easy thing to do. We have had plenty of surface representations, but when we are faced with the real bulk and majesty and the ever-changing moods of our Rockies the problem becomes a much more demanding one.

HEAVY MOOD

Only in one of the paintings in a collection, now at 1208 Wharf, has the painter interpreted the heavy, threatening mood of a mountain. This has been done by free use of pure black, in simple planes, following to some extent the drawing in charcoal stressing strong rhythms and powerful form.

Lucas' other mountain paintings are handled more in flat color pattern with the feeling for design taking a more important part than powerful impact.

VICTORIA BOOKING

But mountain subjects seem to have claimed Lucas' interest and when his forthcoming exhibition, a show of mountain paintings only, is circulated by the Institute of Ontario, this will be something different.

It has been booked for showing at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria in 1969.

Dennis Lucas studied with Arthur Lismer in Montreal. He has recently exhibited at McGill University, at the Concours Artistique De Quebec and is represented in private collections in Eastern Canada, among them that of Mr. and Mrs. Lawren Harris.

Inga Baunbach's serigraphs also hold the spotlight at 1208 Wharf. They are something worth going to see.

When Jan and Heiga Grove opened a pottery studio here, they created a demand for ceramics of the highest order. Jan does the wheelwork and Heiga the designing of any surface decoration that is used. She is a designer of distinction in Europe. We are fortunate in having such artists here.

Jan's research in the field of pottery glazes has resulted in ones of great beauty, glazes that fit the clay bodies perfectly, and anyone who has done any pottery at all knows how essential this is. A lifetime can easily be spent on this field of research.

To watch Jan "throwing a pot" as it is called, is an unforgettable experience. The clay comes to life in his experienced but sensitive hands and an exquisite bowl or handsome lamp has been created.

How fortunate we are to have so much of Europe's talent in the arts now available to Canada.

Our Principals

Schools Near Change

The teaching profession is on the brink of a great change, says Donald McKinnon, principal of North Saanich Junior high school, and he looks forward to being a part of that change.

Architecture will have a part in the change, with schools providing a variety of types of accommodation for teaching ranging from open areas for multi-class work to sections in which students may work alone.

Of major importance, he feels, will be the research centre, an outgrowth of the present libraries. Here will be, besides books, sound and film tapes and records. A pupil who has missed a lecture, for instance, will be able to get it on sound tape, sit down with a pair of headphones, and catch up.

Along with these changes will come even greater community involvement in the school. Adults, too, could make use of the research centre.

Mr. McKinnon was born in Victoria and attended Sir James Douglas, Central and Victoria High before going on to Victoria College and UBC for his degree. Typically of his profession, he's still studying.

Math and physics were his specialties, and since he enjoys working with young people he took teacher training at UBC.

He taught first for nine years at the junior high and senior high level at Nelson, where he became head of the math department.

In 1961, Mr. McKinnon came to North Saanich school as vice-principal, and took over his present post three years ago when it was still a junior-senior school. He still spends half his time teaching, and appreciates the contacts this maintains with the students.

His major rewards, he says, come from the total job and from his share of the reflected glory when North Saanich youngsters excel in any particular field, be it scholastic, athletic, drama or music.

Mr. McKinnon is married with three children — two girls and a boy. His principal hobby is sailing (he crews aboard a friend's Thunderbird class boat). While he enjoys golf, he feels he gets the most out of his spare time by sharing as much of it as possible with his family. — E.M.S.

Minister Threatens 'Partisan Politics' Reprisals

Teachers Draw Battle Lines

By BILL STAVDAL
Education Reporter

PENTICTON — The government and the B.C. Teachers' Federation are squaring off over a forthcoming BCTF public information campaign on education issues.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson has warned of government retaliation if the

19,000-member teachers' organization enters into partisan politics. (See also Page 14.)

On Wednesday Robert Buzza, outgoing president of the BCTF served notice that the campaign will go ahead anyway with no political alliances.

"As teachers, we have an obligation to inform the public of matters of concern to us in the field of education. This we shall continue to do," he said.

The BCTF's annual general meeting in the Penticon Peach Bowl has drawn about 2,000 teachers. They have been strongly critical of the government.

On Tuesday they voted almost unanimously for a major campaign to inform teachers and the public of the implications of government education policies.

The BCTF will lobby the 1969 session of the legislature, and involve itself in the next provincial election.

A levy of $3 per head will raise about $57,000 from the 19,000 members.

Mr. Peterson who attended a convention banquet Wednesday but did not address the gathering, later was asked his reaction to the teachers' election campaign.

He said that if the BCTF engaged in partisan politics he would have to consider "further legislation."

The minister said the government would not allow compulsory membership in an organization which affiliated itself to a political party. He also reminded the teachers of existing legislation which forbids channelling of union dues into a political party.

Robert Buzza, in a Wednesday interview, said:

"My attitude is very simple

'Intimidation'

Peterson Rapped By Labor

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Federation of Labor Wednesday branded as intimidation a hint by Education Minister Leslie Peterson of legislation against militant teachers.

"In response to a decision by the B.C. Teachers' Federation to launch a public campaign against recent changes in education financing in the province, Mr. Peterson has threatened Mr. Peterson has threatened ... with reprisals in the form of legislation to weaken the organization," the labor federation said in a statement.

Mr. Peterson, who doubles as labor minister, said in an interview at the teachers' convention in Penticton that the government would act if teachers opposed financing legislation on a partisan political basis.

He said legislation could take the form of not compelling all teachers to belong to the federation.

The interview followed a resolution passed at the convention that called for $57,000 to launch a campaign against school financing methods in use.

War Legality Irrelevant Spock Told

BOSTON (AP)—Dr. Benjamin Spock and four co-defendants charged with counselling young men to evade the U.S. draft were told Wednesday they could not question the legality of the Vietnam war in seeking to have the charges dismissed.

"The legality of the Vietnam war is not a relevant issue in this case," Judge Francis J. W. Ford said at a pre-trial hearing in U.S. district court.

Because of the numerous motions for dismissal filed by lawyers for the five, Judge Ford set time limits on their arguments.

Conspiracy Charge Laid in King Slaying

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (CP-AP)—A federal complaint Wednesday charged Eric Starvo Galt, a mysterious white man who has been hunted for a week, with conspiracy in the April 4 sniper assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Five hours later Galt was charged by the state of Tennessee with first degree murder in the death of King.

The FBI complaint charges that Galt and a man who Galt claimed was his brother entered into a conspiracy about March 29 in Birmingham. A warrant Galt said his brother was not Birmingham.

NO DETAILS

There was no indication from the FBI that other persons would be charged with the conspiracy. The second man that Galt said was his brother was not identified, nor charged. No details were given of him.

It was the first word that the FBI had evidence of conspiracy in the death of King, killed by an assassin in Memphis, Tenn., where King had gone to support striking garbage workers.

The federal charge against Galt involves violation of King's civil rights.

MIXED REACTION

But the state warrant charged that Galt "did unlawfully, feloniously, willfully, deliberately, premeditated and of his malice aforethought kill and murder Martin Luther King Jr."

The FBI issued a photograph of Galt which met with mixed reaction from witnesses and persons who had met Galt.

'NOT THE MAN'

"Unless he was wearing a wig or had had a face lift or something, it's not the man I saw," said Charles Q. Stevens, a resident of the rooming house from which the sniper was believed to have shot King.

The FBI did not indicate when the photograph was made, but a source said it was taken within the last three months.

An Atlanta taxicab driver said an FBI picture he identified as a two-block fare the night after the slaying was different from the one released Wednesday.

"That is definitely not the man I picked up," the cab driver said.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Attorney General Ramsey Clark, who went to Memphis after the slaying of King, announced in a statement released by the FBI that Galt was being sought as a fugitive on the charge of conspiring to injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate King in the exercise of a federal

Missing 46 Days, Man Walks Home

By JEAN MacGREGOR

LAKE COWICHAN—A man, missing for 46 days, who has been the object of a search in two countries, walked out of the woods late Tuesday night and announced he had been "praying to God."

Lashkar Singh Sall, 35, had been missing since March 1, when he was last seen near the East Indian bunkhouses of Hillcrest Lumber Company, Mesachie Lake, where he lives and works.

Police and tracking dogs were called in six days later, but no trace of him was found.

Inquiries were made to airline travel bureaus and to relatives in India, but no one had heard from or seen the heavily-bearded man who vanished wearing a pink turban.

Mr. Lashkar has a family in India, and he has been in Canada for the past nine years.

Later in March, Mr. Lashkar's uncle, through officials of Hillcrest Lumber Company, offered a $200 reward for information leading to his whereabouts.

Police said about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday Mr. Lashkar suddenly showed up at the bunkhouse.

Someone told him the police had been searching for him and he telephoned the Lake Cowichan RCMP explaining to them that he had been in the woods for the past six weeks.

A constable at the detachment station said Wednesday, "He does not remember much about what happened to him or where he has been."

"He is very thin and has lost a lot of weight."

"It is difficult to understand why he did not die of exposure or starvation."

The RCMP officer added that Mr. Lashkar will be given a medical examination, and will probably be in hospital for observation for awhile.

Canadian, U.S. Attaches Spying, Says Kremlin

From AP—Reuters

MOSCOW (CP) — The Soviet Union charged Wednesday that a Canadian and five United States military attaches were guilty of "open espionage" at a shipyard and a military base last week. The Canadian and U.S. embassies denied the charges.

The Canadian was identified as Lt.-Col. J. V. Watson, 45-year-old native of Lansing, Ont., and air attaché at the Canadian Embassy.

The incident was the second in a year in which Canadian military attaches have been accused of espionage activities in Communist countries.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia charges the six spies on army and naval targets in two separate incidents earlier this month. The article appeared after U.S. and Canadian embassy representatives were called to the Soviet foreign ministry.

Izvestia charges assistant U.S. naval attaches Lt.-Cmdr. Ralph N. Channel, marine Lt.-Col. Wayne E. Richards, Cmdr. Robert R. Hamer and Watson were involved in the first incident April 8 at a shipbuilding yard in Leningrad.

Assistant U.S. army attaches

Lt.-Col. Hugo W. Watson and Lt.-Col. Gerhard L. Jacobson were involved in the second alleged incident April 9 at a military base near Borisov in Byelorussia, the newspaper says.

It accuses all six officers of using "foul language" when Soviet officials intervened.

The U.S. embassy, in its strongest assertion here in years of diplomatic rights, said the attaches immunity was violated and that the incidents had been "staged."

Precedent indicated the Soviet

Who Will Give Groom Away?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Can you picture a demure bridegroom being paraded down the aisle and the clergyman asking "who gives this man in marriage?"

The question was put Wednesday to the seven members of the royal commission on the status of women by Iva Conboy, a lawyer from Chilliwack with a light-hearted approach to women's problems.

White-haired Mrs. Conroy told the commission's second public hearing women are no longer held back by laws but by attitudes of mind common to women as well as men.

"If a woman is not a chattel why give her away in marriage?" she asked to chuckles and cries of "hear, hear" from an audience of 75 Vancouver women and about six men.

"Many of the customs that go with marriage were invented when Abraham was a nomad." (See also Page 15.)

She said women should stop "obliterating their identities" by taking their husbands' names in marriage and called for an end to distinctions between Miss and Mrs.

"Can you imagine Judy LaMarsh getting married and giving up her own name?" the lawyer asked.

Mrs. Conboy's remarks brought delighted approval from commissioner Elsie MacGill, an aeronautical engineer from Toronto who is married to business executive E. J. Soulsby.

Golf Club Swing Kills Girl

ROSOWELL, B.C. (CP)—An 11-year-old Cranbrook girl was killed Wednesday near this southeastern British Columbia community when struck on the head by a golf club swung by a young companion.

Police said Jerri-Ann Dixon and a friend were playing with the club in a field near the summer home of the girl's grandparents. They described the death as accidental.

'Aging' Trudeau Close To Cabinet Completion

By RON COLLISTER

OTTAWA (Special) — Pierre-Elliott Trudeau, now officially two years older than he was last week, will complete his first cabinet in the next 24 hours.

Several key people in the draft cabinet have still to give him their final decisions.

Robert Winters, former trade minister, has been offered the trade and industry portfolios blended into one.

It is a toss of a coin whether or not he accepts or goes back into lucrative private business.

The solid speculation is that Paul Martin will switch from external to justice, en route to the bench.

Mitchell Sharp will switch from finance to external, as Edgar Benson, president of the treasury board, will become finance minister.

Several new faces may join the cabinet, including British Columbia's Ron Basford and Toronto's Don Macdonald. Another opening was made Wednesday with the resignation of Solicitor-General Larry Pennell.

Tawa Wednesday after a week- Trudeau arrived back in Ot-end vacation in Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

While he was away, official records showed that he was 48, not 46, as claimed by his organizers during the leadership convention.

Trudeau was asked why he had not done something to correct the record of his age.

"I have never given my age," he replied. "But people have picked it up right and left."

He said he may not have told anyone his age.

Pressed further, he replied: "I'm confused. I think I know

Credit Union

Union Bay's Great Day

By MARY MOORE

UNION BAY — It was a great day for Bessie McKay and Paul Grundy.

They were the only two original directors of Union Bay Credit Union who were present when the new Credit Union office building was officially opened.

Athletics Second

DUNCAN — Members of the Cowichan Valley Athletics Club sprinted and jumped to second best position from among 20 teams from Canada and the United States, and three of its relay teams won first place with one establishing a new B.C. speed record, at an athletic meet at Seattle.

Coach Tom Hamilton with eight parents accompanied the pee-wee and bantam boys and girls. He said the youngsters showed outstanding form, spirit and endurance.

TRAINING

He said many months of intensive training paid off.

The pee-wee girls establishing the speed record in relay were Sharon Crabbe, Sharon Taylor, Shannon Hallet and Terry Stothard.

PEEWEE BOYS

The pee-wee boys' relay team with Dave Bremner, Harold Hamilton, James Lindsay and Bobby Saunders ran well.

Harold Hamilton excelled in the ball-throw class and Bobby Saunders placed second in high jumping.

SPONSORS

Mr. Hamilton said May 12, the Cowichan Valley Athletics Club will sponsor the Lieutenant-Governor's Invitational Meet at the Cowichan High School grounds, and about 300 pee-wee and bantam athletes from B.C., Washington and Oregon are expected to participate.

In June midgets and juvenile athletic teams from the same regions will also meet at Duncan.

The building is the first new business structure to be built in the community in 20 years.

President Reed Roth paid tribute to the directors who pioneered the Credit Union in this community 24 years ago.

"They laid a strong foundation in 1944," he said, "so that we could advance to this point today, and several are still taking an active part."

He presented a corsage to Mrs. McKay, honoring her continuing service as a director and chairman of the education committee. Mr. Grundy was commended for his place as first secretary-treasurer.

Guest speakers were Fred Phillips, Vancouver, field representative of the B.C. League of Credit Unions, and James Brand, Victoria, representative of Cuna Mutual Insurance Society.

Both men brought greetings and congratulations from their organizations.

"Today is the culmination of our efforts, as directors of your Credit Union, to provide for you the facilities you deserve," said president Roth, as he declared the building open.

Mrs. McKay cut the ribbon. Scissors were presented to her on a cushion by 2-year-old Jan Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Stewart.

Bright gift arrangements of spring flowers, balloons, streamers and fancy hats created a festive atmosphere inside the solidly-built two-room building.

The main office is already equipped with everything needed to preserve records and carry on the business of saving and loaning money.

Lillian Murdoch, secretary-treasurer, is in charge, and has posted a regular schedule of working hours for the convenience of members.

Guests were interested in the bulletin board in this room, on which were posted the minutes of a meeting called in April, 1944, to organize a Credit Union.

With it was a copy of the first financial statement one year later. For comparison, there was also a copy of the annual report for 1968.

Festival Winners Entertain Group

DUNCAN — Star performers of the Cowichan Music Festival provided the entertainment at a meeting of the Old Age Pensioners' Organization at Duncan.

The performers included Janet Kyle, highland dancing;

Sylvia

Norma Kenyon playing the accordion; Dagnar and Douglas Kilian, playing a piano duet; and Robert Whitmore and Paul Holland who performed a scene from Tom Sawyer.

This was followed by a costume dance by Debbie Carlson and Sylvia Furneaux rendered a classical aria, accompanying herself on the piano.

Dwight Robinson, who introduced the artists, invited the young people to return for another concert in the future.

He described the entertainment as "One of the best musical programs we have had the pleasure of listening to."

During the meeting, arrangements were made for the annual Vancouver Island Pensioners' Picnic at Parksville, July 21; the Grandparents' Tea, June 22; a concert in the United Church Hall at 2 p.m. on May 1, and a social tea to be held this Sunday at the United Church Hall.

Members learned the Silver Threads Choral Group of Victoria is willing to put on a concert, but as the group is booked solid for the time being, the earliest date available will be in the fall.

Arrangements will be made to hold the concert in the United Church Hall, Sept. 16.

Aiming for June

Covered Pool Top Priority

NORTH COWICHAN — Although this area offers plenty of outdoor swimming facilities, the municipality should provide a covered swimming pool for year round training, said Earl O'Neill.

The new North Cowichan recreation director stressed continuous swimming instruction for young and older people should be made available, in an area where boating is a main recreation and beaches are plentiful.

Mr. O'Neill arrived here two weeks ago with his wife and four children, Kevin, 7, Casey, 5, Lauren, 3, and Darren, 2.

Well-seasoned in recreational matters, the new director gathered experience all across Canada.

His last position was with the town of Peace River which has a population of 5,000.

He was born and educated in Regina.

He lauded the attempt to

O'Neill

work school facilities into the recreational program.

"It is a growing trend, but unfortunately not all areas do it."

In reference to the Fuller's Lake Arena, now under construction, Mr. O'Neill commented "It is a very impressive building, but I look at it from the programming point of view and I think some of the drawbacks can be rectified."

He said there should be more dressing space.

"It is a very sound building and maximum use will be gained from this facility."

He said during the summer months the arena can be used for roller skating, dances, exhibitions and a variety of other activities.

"The whole area will benefit from this arena."

Commenting on the Sanderson recreation report, which he described as comprehensive, Mr. O'Neill remarked "I certainly think a large indoor facility is needed."

He said the report was registered the better it will be."

Meanwhile, on Wednesday, police at Lake Cowichan reported that nothing has turned up in the search for the body of Bill Petersen, 18, of Victoria.

FATHER FOUND

His father, John Petersen, 43, was found Tuesday at noon.

The foot search was called off Tuesday night after the riverbank on both sides of the river had been covered.

ONLY ONE

Mr. LaForge said he did not hear of anyone else telling the searchers to "get off their property."

Past president of the Cowichan Fish and Game Association, Arnie Williams of Duncan, stated he had not heard of any of the searchers being ordered off the riverbanks by property owners.

FISHERMEN

He added, however, this problem has arisen in the past when fishermen have used the riverbanks to try their luck in the popular fishing river.

Mr. Williams said, "People are awfully small and childish when it comes to private property. There is a case where a young man is lost and presumed drowned. The wife is worried and near hysterics because of the tragedy, and then you hear that some people won't allow the search party to search the river."

FOOTPATH

With regard to the attitude of some riverfront property owners, Mr. Williams stated, "This is one of the reasons why we built the footpath on the south side of the river."

There are one or two privately-owned properties there but most of it is owned by the government or Macmillan Bloedel."

Association members have worked for the past several years clearing the footpath from Duncan to Lake Cowichan.

NONE PRIVATE

Mr. Williams added, "The way I feel about it is that there should be no more riverfront property sold privately."

"Our footpath is almost finished now, and the sooner it is future."

Discussing the promotion program, Mr. Kersey said his department sends out between 40 and 50 letters a week to selected industries.

The letters ask, are you interested in establishing a branch plant in our province? Mr. Kersey said the letters also give an important alterna-

He said the possible establishment of this industry in the district has been brought about through extensive promotion by Mr. Hawthornthwaite and the industrial development branch.

Mr. Kersey noted several examples of businesses and industries which could be established in the Duncan area.

He said, "I know of one man in Winnipeg who is in the leather goods business. He told me he is tired of shovelling snow, and he intends coming to B.C. within the next year."

"He is considering the Victoria area, but there is no reason why he could not come into the Duncan area."

Mr. Kersey offered his department's full co-operation in developing the district.

He said, "You can be assured any inquiries we get will be forwarded to you immediately by me or someone in my department."

"No one is happier than I to bring industry into the Duncan area."

Mayor Urges Caution In Recreation Push

By KLAUS MUENTER

NORTH COWICHAN —

A high-pressure campaign could anger residents and kill an $800,000 recreation bylaw, the mayor of this municipality has warned.

Mayor Donald Morton Wednesday afternoon expressed optimism regarding the proposed recreation bylaw in the southern portion of the municipality. But he cautioned the recreation commission not to press too hard.

He said "It could antagonize some people."

"I have been gradually converted to the opinion that a great number of people want those facilities."

Swimming

The recreation project would consist of a covered swimming pool, a community centre and also would include the purchase of an additional piece of land adjacent to Pioneer Park.

The mayor hinted a different sharing formula may be used to finance the recreational facilities and the purchase of the land.

He indicated the municipal staff is now working out a mill rate which would be necessary to finance the complex, and the report will be made available to the City of Duncan, whose staff is studying similar aspects.

September

The North Cowichan Recreation Commission earlier agreed to suggest to the city a September voting date.

The recreation project would be voted on by citizens of the southern portion of the municipality and the city.

It is expected that the northern and the southern recreation areas within the municipality would eventually merge to pay jointly for all recreational facilities within North Cowichan.

Mill Rates

Duncan residents would not be affected by this merging clause, and would just contribute to the recreational complex in the southern port of North Cowichan.

The joint North Cowichan and city recreation commissions will soon be supplied with projected mill rates necessary for financing of the complex.

Mayor Morton expressed some doubts as to the wisdom of having members of the unorganized area's recreation commission (South Cowichan) help with the promotion of the bylaw.

Reaction

"I wonder about the reaction from the people paying for it."

"If there is an indication that people from South Cowichan will come in, then it is fine."

Although the 1968 budget has not yet been presented, Mayor Morton hinted the general mill rate will go up by 3.5 mills plus the mill rate for the regional area contribution.

In other business:

● Council gave the third reading to a bylaw to rezone an area at Queen Margaret's School to Rural Restricted, because the school wants to build a new stable.

● The quotation from Burak Construction for the installation of a septic tank and disposal field at the Fuller's Lake Arena at $13,253 was referred to the municipal engineer.

● Ald. John Cannon told council Chemainus Hospital Days, May 10 and 11, will be highlighted by a coffee cabaret 8 p.m. on both days and proceeds earmarked towards the purchase of a large sterilizer for the Chemainus General Hospital.

Game Group Attacks Flood Control Plan

DUNCAN — President of the Cowichan Fish and Game Association Jack Fielden told the Regional District Wednesday "We are not against flood control."

"We are for it, but we are opposing the plan drawn up by the Water Rights Branch."

He said that plan would destroy the beauty of the Cowichan River and also 70 per cent of the fish stock.

Mr. Fielden said it would result in a loss of $700,000 including $400,000 for commercial and $300,000 for sports coho fishing.

He said other salmon and trout species would also be adversely affected.

He said his association will present a proposal which would deal mainly with the Duncan area of the Cowichan River.

He indicated some of the proposed measures would include the removal of some gravel banks, silt islands, the widening of the railroad bridge and the lowering of the weir.

He said the Nitinat diversion would also destroy much of the salmon stock.

Mr. Fielden said "We are supported by the Vancouver Island Wildlife Federation, the B.C. Wildlife Federation, the Amalgamated Conservation Society and the Marina Operators Association."

President of Vancouver Island Wildlife Federation Arnie Williams stressed "If we have no fishing in the Cowichan River we can forget tourism, which is second only to the logging industry."

He said fishing is the main attraction, and auto courts and marinas would be very badly affected.

Mr. Williams noted the Cowichan River is one of the largest coho salmon producing rivers in British Columbia.

The fish and game plea will be considered by the regional flood committee which is chaired by Commissioner Herb Halliday of the village of Lake Cowichan.

Ald. Jim Saunders of Duncan told the directors the Kiwanis ambulance stationed at Duncan should be wholeheartedly supported in its bid for a new ambulance building to cost between $25,000 and $30,000.

He said all the ambulance personnel are volunteers, and it would cost many times more if the service would have to be provided by the municipalities and the unorganized areas.

Credit Union Shows Faith

Horne Boosters Set for Trek

PORT ALBERNI—Plans for the Horne Lake trek April 28 are well advanced, according to George McKnight, chairman of the Horne Lake Trail Boosters Group. He plans a five mile hike to prove how easy it would be to provide a second access road out of the valley by using the trail of the pioneers.

All those interested in making the jaunt from the Alberni Valley side should be at the Timber Lodge Motel at 10 a.m. on April 28.

Those coming from the east side of the Island are asked to gather at the Horne Lake Coffee Shop near Qualicum Bay.

EXACT ROUTE

"A group of us walked along the route to complete plans for the exact route," Mr. McKnight said. "It's all easy travelling and the scenery is simply beautiful."

"There are fir trees a foot across growing along the old railway grade, and the views are superb."

LACEY LAKE

The groups from the east and west sides of the Island will meet at Lacey Lake where considerable development has been undertaken recently.

The Cherry Creek Water Board was clearing the shoreline, and enlarging the lake's capacity by construction of dams.

BIG ASSET

"We hope to demonstrate how very easy it would be to make an access road through this part of the country, and what an asset it would be to the people of the Alberni Valley, the Qualicum and Bowser area, as well as to all residents of north-central Vancouver Island, Mr. McKnight said.

"Tourists would appreciate another scenic route in and out of the valley en route to the Long Beach-Tofino area," Mr. McKnight stated.

SPRING FLOOD

Recent small slides and early spring flooding in the Cameron Lake area add weight to claims of the need for a second road, he declared.

Mr. McKnight said logging in the Cameron River watershed lowered water retention in the area, and further logging could lead to greater flooding problems as years go by, increasing the probability of flooding of the Cameron River.

MAJOR SLIDE

The possibility that the road around Cameron Lake could be cut off by a major slide or severe flooding has been one of the strong points made by the Horne Lake Road boosters in their campaign to persuade the Department of Highways to take a further look at the possibilities of pushing a road through.

Searchers Disgusted

'People Are Small'

LAKE COWICHAN — An official of the search party which looked for drowning victims along the Cowichan River, said reports of "heartlessness" of riverbank residents were founded on a single incident.

The search party was looking for a missing Victoria man and his son, after they vanished in the river this week.

The official said a single property owner ordered the search party off her land.

Earl LaForge, president of the Valley Fish and Game Association at Lake Cowichan, which took part in the search,

BOTHERED

Several of the search party members took the day off work to aid in the search.

ONLY ONE

Mr. LaForge said he did not hear of anyone else telling the searchers to "get off their property."

Past president of the Cowichan Fish and Game Association, Arnie Williams of Duncan, stated he had not heard of any of the searchers being ordered off the riverbanks by property owners.

FISHERMEN

He added, however, this problem has arisen in the past when fishermen have used the riverbanks to try their luck in the popular fishing river.

Mr. Williams said, "People are awfully small and childish when it comes to private property. There is a case where a young man is lost and presumed drowned. The wife is worried and near hysterics because of the tragedy, and then you hear that some people won't allow the search party to search the river."

FOOTPATH

With regard to the attitude of some riverfront property owners, Mr. Williams stated, "This is one of the reasons why we built the footpath on the south side of the river."

There are one or two privately-owned properties there but most of it is owned by the government or Macmillan Bloedel."

Association members have worked for the past several years clearing the footpath from Duncan to Lake Cowichan.

NONE PRIVATE

Mr. Williams added, "The way I feel about it is that there should be no more riverfront property sold privately."

"Our footpath is almost finished now, and the sooner it is future."

Mr. Kersey noted several examples of businesses and industries which could be established in the Duncan area.

He said, "I know of one man in Winnipeg who is in the leather goods business. He told me he is tired of shovelling snow, and he intends coming to B.C. within the next year."

"He is considering the Victoria area, but there is no reason why he could not come into the Duncan area."

Mr. Kersey offered his department's full co-operation in developing the district.

He said, "You can be assured any inquiries we get will be forwarded to you immediately by me or someone in my department."

"No one is happier than I to bring industry into the Duncan area."

Hard Work Gets Industry

By JEAN MACGREGOR

DUNCAN — The two main ingredients in an industrial development program are research and promotion, said Ray Kersey, of Victoria.

He is industrial commissioner of the Industrial Development Department of the government.

Mr. Kersey was speaker at a meeting of the Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce.

He explained his department's research program, and he added the chamber's industrial development committee can use the same type of research.

The first step, he said, is to compile details "of general interest to businessmen."

"This type of research can give you an almost complete coverage of the area," he said.

He also mentioned market studies, and Mr. Kersey noted "you will have to do some of this but you cannot rely on the government to do it all."

He mentioned a study on the glass industry carried out by his department about six years ago.

"We found there was a potential market worth $4 million in B.C.," he said.

"We sent this information to every company connected with the glass industry, and four years later Dominion Glass put in a plant at Burnaby."

"We hope another plant will be established in the near future."

Mr. Kersey said he had received a letter in the mail Wednesday morning stating two men are coming to B.C. to investigate the furniture component parts business with a view to investing in the industry.

Discussing the promotion program, Mr. Kersey said his department sends out between 40 and 50 letters a week to selected industries.

Supply to City Will Triple

Water Tunnel Joined Only Inches Off Line

By A. H. MURPHY

Three-and-one-half years after the first bit sank into a rock parapet in the side of Goldstream watershed, drills punched through Tuesday to link the two halves of the five-mile-long Greater Victoria Water District tunnel. The ends met within about six inches.

On Tuesday afternoon, miners drove a number of exploratory drill holes through the last 11 feet of rock separating the Sooke Lake end of the tunnel from the section which opens on Japan Gulch at Goldstream.

SURVEY ACCURATE
The final barrier was to be drilled and blasted out early today, and it is expected that free access through the full 28,700-foot bore will be possible later this afternoon.

Ronald Upward, chief water commissioner, said Tuesday that the exploratory drilling showed that the two inner ends of the tunnel were offset not more than six inches.

"We have had survey teams on this job for a couple of years now, and the fact that it was off not more than six inches in 28,700 feet speaks well for their work," Mr. Upward said.

1969 TARGET
Cost of the operation up to this point has been $3,100,000.
Mr. Upward added. Another
$2,500,000 will be spent before the project is finished late in 1969.

Principal source of the water supply is Sooke Lake, where 3,700,000,000 gallons are stored.
This storage will be increased soon by raising the outlet dam at the lake. Mr. Upward said Tuesday that it would probably be raised again in another 25 years.

Meanwhile, the tunnel will allow three times as much water to be brought to Greater Victoria —enough to serve a population of more than 500,000 people.

The tunnel will replace a pipeline, outdated and leaky, which reaches Victoria the long way around by Sooke Harbor and the Sooke highway — a distance of 27.5 miles.

GRAVITY FLOW
The tunnel, which will be seven feet seven inches in diameter when finished and concreted, is about 5.5 miles long.
There is another mile of connecting pipeline. The lower end at Goldstream is 49 feet below the upper end, and the water will reach its destination by gravity flow.

Work began from both ends of the tunnel in December, 1964.
Because of the small bore, it was possible for only three men to work at one time at the face, and this meant that a shift was able to break only about six feet a day. Three shifts over a good 24-hour day could make as much as 25 feet.

DEEP BELOW LAKE
However, at that pace, drilling from the Sooke end, miners reached a point halfway through the watershed and about 1,000 feet below Mavis Lake on the surface last November.

At that point tunnelling stopped at the "top end." A concrete plant was put into operation and the massive job of lining the inside of the tunnel began. Mining
end.

The lining was done from the "face" out to the portal and the thickness of the cement averaged about eight inches.

GOLDSTREAM END
That phase of the operation will be completed in June, when the concrete plant will be brought to the Goldstream end and the job of lining that 15,000-odd feet will begin.

Workmen can average about 80 feet of concrete a day, Mr.
Upward said Tuesday. Cement worth about $250,000 will be used and more than 140,000 tons of aggregate.

The commissioner was pleased Tuesday that there was only one accident of any consequence in the entire operation. One miner lost the sight of an eye when he drilled into a hole containing dynamite from a previous loading.

MECHANICAL MOLE
Miners ran into "bad ground" several times and on more than one occasion the "back" (roof) of the tunnel came down, but workmen managed to get out of the way and no one was hurt.

When the water board decided that the tunnel would be driven in 1964, a contract was let to a private company, Intermountain Construction, which purchased and put to work a mining machine—a huge mechanical mole which bit into the rock with a rotary cutting head.

Saanich Stumped

Bees for Birds
Resident Says

Saanich council was asked Tuesday night to deal with a bad case of hives—beehives.

Mrs. J. A. Loucks, 380 Obed, complained that, because of a neighbor's bees, she couldn't keep her laundry clean.
They stain sheets, diapers and white shirts, she said,
"and you can't get the stains out."

"Sometimes the kids can't go out in the yard," she said,
"because the bee population is so bad."

Council was told the neighbor has kept two or three chickens and six hives of bees for the past 16 years.

Development Engineer Joseph Barber-Starkey said the neighbor could not keep chickens "beyond the life of the present birds" but there is no bylaw regulating the keeping of bees.

Mrs. Loucks asked if she could have the bees removed if they swarm on her property. Acting Mayor Leslie Pas-more said he didn't know.

Ald. Foster Isherwood suggested she get in touch with the provincial apiarist to find out what relief she was entitled to.

Industrial Zone
Parley Rejected

Royal Oak residents tried again to arrange a meeting with Saanich council to discuss the proposed light industrial zone in their area but were again turned down with only two aldermen dissenting.

Two letters were read, one from the Saanich Action Committee and one from J. R.
Turner, 4560 Viewmont.

Mr. Turner disputed a statement by Mayor Hugh Curtis earlier this month that a public hearing was not a mere formality but, instead, would give ratepayers the opportunity for lengthy and exhaustive discussion.

MATTER OF RECORD
"May I remind you," Mr.
Turner wrote in his letter, "that a public hearing was held prior to granting rezoning for the T.
Eaton warehouse."

He went on to say that it was a matter of record that council at that time stated that Raymond Street was not to be used as a means of ingress and egress.

"Because it is relevant, I wish to point out at this time that homeowners in the vicinity, when being petitioned by a representative of the promoter, were told unequivocally that ingress and egress would be from the Patricia Bay Highway.
Were we lied to? I now believe so."

UVic A-Probe
Receives Grant

The huge Triumf cyclotron project, in which the University of Victoria is a partner, Tuesday received a $850,000 federal grant.

Triumf is an acronym for tri-university meson facility, a $27,000,000 venture which originally included UVic, University of British Columbia and Simon Fraser University.

However, since it was announced a year ago, it has been expanded to include the University of Alberta at Edmonton.

Mines Minister Jean-Luc
Peplin said he expected another $850,000 federal grant would be offered in a few months. Dr.
Malcolm Taylor, president of UVic, said the money, and the promise, will enable work on the project to begin immediately.

A research group of eight physicists from UVic are among about 50 scientists planning the project, which will be in operation by 1974 on the campus of UBC.

The cyclotron, or nuclear accelerator, is a basic tool for investigation of the sub-atomic world.

It fires a stream of subatomic particles at a target of atomic nuclei. The effects on the nuclei of this bombardment provide scientists with information on how the nuclei and their components are constructed.

The type of accelerator to be built at UBC will produce beams of protons, and will be the first of its type in Canada to yield enough energy to produce other sub-atomic particles called mesons.

Triumf's proton beam will be so intense that it will yield 1,000 times as many mesons as any existing machine.

Each of the participating universities has one phase of the project on the drawing boards. UVic's scientists are designing the beam transporter that will deliver the flow of mesons or protons to a target.

The Atomic Energy Control Board, a federal agency, has already given UVic's physics department $200,000 for this research.

The beam transporter itself is expected to require about $2-000,000 in federal funds.

Triumf's applications range from analysing the interiors of stars to harnessing new sources of nuclear energy. It also will produce radioisotopes that could be used in industry or medicine.

Hall Teaching
Worries Board

The Department of Education would have Victoria West youngsters taught in the hallway and mudroom space of their proposed new school, Trustee Ted Wood said Tuesday night.

He was telling fellow members of Greater Victoria school board about some of the exchanges between trustees, architects and department officials over plans for a new school.

After architects had redrawn plans, they were taken to the education department, where the pencil again was put to them.

"They wanted to create teaching areas in a hall and a mudroom," said Mr. Wood, explaining that such a design was "administratively impossible."

Mudrooms are used for storing wet weather clothing.
The $15,000-per-classroom limit set by the department was not feasible, he added.

The school board's administration hopes to meet the department again, possibly within a week, to see if a solution could still be found.

Operatic
Week Tunes In

Mayor Hugh Stephen has proclaimed the week of April 27 to May 4 Operatic Week in honor of the Victoria Operatic Society.

The society has for the past
22 years provided musical entertainment of the highest order for the residents of Greater Victoria, the mayor said in his proclamation.

***
The society's spring production of Brigadoon will open at the McPherson Playhouse, April 30.

"I do earnestly urge all our citizens to support the Victoria Operatic Society's endeavors by patronizing this production and making it known to their friends," the mayor said.

Minister Threatens 'Partisan Politics' Reprisals Teachers Draw Battle Lines

By BILL STAVDAL
Education Reporter
PENTICTON — The government and the B.C. Teachers' Federation are squaring off over a forthcoming BCTF public information campaign on education issues.

19,000-member teachers' organization enters into partisan politics. (See also Page 14.)
On Wednesday Robert Buzza, outgoing president of the BCTF served notice that the campaign will go ahead anyway with no political alliances.

"As teachers, we have an obligation to inform the public of matters of concern to us in the field of education. This we shall continue to do," he said. The BCTF's annual general meeting in the Pentiction Peach Bowl has drawn about 2,000 teachers. They have been strongly critical of the government.

On Tuesday they voted almost unanimously for a major campaign to inform teachers and the public of the implications of government education policies. The BCTF will lobby the 1969 session of the legislature, and involve itself in the next provincial election.

A levy of $3 per head will raise about $57,000 from the 19,000 members. Mr. Peterson who attended a convention banquet Wednesday but did not address the gathering, later was asked his reaction to the teachers involving themselves in an election campaign.

He said that if the BCTF engaged in partisan politics he would have to consider "further legislation." The minister said the government would not allow compulsory membership in an organization which affiliated itself to a political party. He also reminded the teachers of existing legislation which forbids channelling of union dues into a political party.

Robert Buzza, in a Wednesday interview, said: "My attitude is very simple. Continued on Page 2"

'Intimidation'

Peterson Rapped By Labor

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Federation of Labor Wednesday branded as intimidation a hint by Education Minister Leslie Peterson that reprisals in the form of legislation to weaken the organization, the labor federation said in a statement.

"In response to a decision by the B.C. Teachers' Federation to launch a public campaign against recent changes in education financing in the province, Mr. Peterson has threatened . . . with reprisals in the form of legislation to weaken the organization," the labor federation said in a statement.

Mr. Peterson, who doubles as labor minister, said in an interview at the teachers' convention in Pentiction that the government would act if teachers opposed financing legislation on a partisan political basis.

He said legislation could take the form of not compelling all teachers to belong to the federation.

The interview followed a resolution passed at the convention that called for $57,000 to launch a campaign against school financing methods in use.

War Legality Irrelevant Spock Told

BOSTON (AP)—Dr. Benjamin Spock and four co-defendants charged with counselling young men to evade the U.S. draft were told Wednesday they could not question the legality of the Vietnam war in seeking to have the charges dismissed.

"The legality of the Vietnam war is not a relevant issue in this case," Judge Francis J. W. Ford said at a pre-trial hearing in U.S. district court.

Because of the numerous motions for dismissal filed by lawyers for the five, Judge Ford set time limits on their arguments.

Blaiberg Strides On

World's only successful heart transplant patient, Dr. Philip Blaiberg is making great strides at his Cape Town home. So confident is he that he is planning a grand tour of Europe with his wife next year. A few months ago he was a dying man, today he is vigorous and active. A further installment in the Blaibergs' own story appears today on Page 32.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE LAID IN KING KILLING

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (CP-AP)—A federal complaint Wednesday charged Eric Starvo Galt, a mysterious white man who has been hunted for a week, with conspiracy in the April 4 sniper assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Five hours later Galt was charged by the state of Tennessee with first degree murder in the death of King.

The FBI complaint charges that Galt and a man who Galt claimed was his brother entered into a conspiracy about March 29 in Birmingham. A warrant for Galt's arrest was issued in Birmingham.

NO DETAILS

There was no indication from the FBI that other persons would be charged with the conspiracy. The second man that Galt said was his brother was not identified, nor charged. No details were given of him.

It was the first word that the FBI had evidence of conspiracy in the death of King, killed by an assassin in Memphis, Tenn., where King had gone to support striking garbage workers.

The federal charge against Galt involves violation of King's civil rights.

MIXED REACTION

But the state warrant charged that Galt "did unlawfully, feloniously, willfully, deliberately, premeditatedly and of his malice aforethought kill and murder Martin Luther King Jr."

The FBI issued a photograph of Galt which met with mixed reaction from witnesses and persons who had met Galt.

'NOT THE MAN'

"Unless he was wearing a wig or had had a face lift or something, it's not the man I saw," said Charles Q. Stevens, a resident of the rooming house from which the sniper was believed to have shot King.

The FBI did not indicate when the photograph was made, but a source said it was taken within the last three months.

An Atlanta taxicab driver said an FBI picture he identified as a two-block fare the night after the slaying was different from the one released Wednesday.

"That is definitely not the man I picked up," the cab driver said.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Attorney General Ramsey Clark, who went to Memphis after the slaying of King, announced in a statement released by the FBI that Galt was being sought as a fugitive on the charge of conspiring to injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate King in the exercise of a federal

Missing 46 Days, Man Walks Home

By JEAN MacGREGOR

LAKE COWICHAN — A man, missing for 46 days, who has been the object of a search in two countries, walked out of the woods late Tuesday night, and announced he had been "praying to God."

Lashkar Sing Sall, 35, had been missing since March 1, when he was last seen near the East Indian bunkhouses of Hillcrest Lumber Company, Mesachie Lake, where he lives and works.

***

Police and tracking dogs were called in six days later, but no trace of him was found. Inquiries were made to airline travel bureaus and to relatives in India, but no one had heard from or seen the heavily-bearded man who vanished wearing a pink turban.

Mr. Lashkar has a family in India, and he has been in Canada for the past nine years. Later in March, Mr. Lashkar's uncle, through officials of Hillcrest Lumber Company, offered a $200 reward for information leading to his whereabouts.

Police said about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday Mr. Lashkar suddenly showed up at the bunkhouse.

Someone told him the police had been searching for him and he telephoned the Lake Cowichan RCMP explaining to them that he had been in the woods for the past six weeks.

***

A constable at the detachment station said Wednesday, "He does not remember much about what happened to him or where he has been."

"He is very thin and has lost a lot of weight."

"It is difficult to understand why he did not die of exposure or starvation."

The RCMP officer added that Mr. Lashkar will be given a medical examination, and will probably be in hospital for observation for awhile.

Canadian, U.S. Attaches Spying, Says Kremlin

From AP—Reuters

MOSCOW (CP) — The Soviet Union charged Wednesday that a Canadian and five United States military attaches were guilty of "open espionage" at a shipyard and a military base last week. The Canadian and U.S. embassies denied the charges.

The Canadian was identified as Lt.-Col. J. V. Watson, 45-year-old native of Lansing, Ont., and air attaché at the Canadian Embassy.

The incident was the second this year in which Canadian military attaches have been accused of espionage activities in Communist countries.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia charges the six spies on army and naval targets, in two separate incidents earlier this month. The article appeared after U.S. and Canadian embassy representatives were called to the Soviet Foreign ministry.

Izvestia charges assistant U.S. naval attaches Lt.-Cmdr. Ralph N. Channel, marine Lt.-Col. Wayne E. Richards, Cmdr. Robert R. Hamer and Watson were involved in the first incident April 8 at a shipbuilding yard in Leningrad.

Assistant U.S. army attaches

Lt.-Col. Hugo W. Matson and Lt.-Col. Gerhard L. Jacobson were involved in the second alleged incident April 9 at a military base near Borisov in Byelorussia, the newspaper says.

It accuses all six officers of using " foul language" when Soviet officials intervened.

The U.S. embassy, in its strongest assertion here in years of diplomatic rights, said the attaches' immunity was violated and that the incidents had been "staged."

Precedent indicated the Soviet

Who Will Give Groom Away?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Can you picture a demure bridegroom being paraded down the aisle and the clergyman asking "who gives this man in marriage?"

The question was put Wednesday to the seven members of the royal commission on the status of women by Iva Conboy, a lawyer from Chilliwack with a light-hearted approach to women's problems.

White-haired Mrs. Conboy told the commission's second public hearing women are no longer held back by laws but by attitudes of mind common to women as well as men.

"If a woman is not a chattel why give her away in marriage?" she asked to chuckles and cries of "hear, hear" from an audience of 75 Vancouver women and about six men.

"Many of the customs that go with marriage were invented when Abraham was a nomad." (See also Page 15.)

She said women should stop "obliterating their identities" by taking their husbands' names in marriage and called for an end to distinctions between Miss and Mrs.

"Can you imagine Judy LaMarsh getting married and giving up her own name?" the lawyer asked.

Mrs. Conboy's remarks brought delighted approval from commissioner Elsie MacGill, an aeronautical engineer from Toronto who is married to business executive E. J. Soutby.

Three Missing In Korean Clash

SEOUL (UPI)—A band of 20 North Korean agents staged a surprise attack on a group of 11 South Korean soldiers patrolling the central sector of the Korean demilitarized zone Wednesday, South Korean military authorities announced Thursday. Three South Korean soldiers were reported missing.

Golf Club Swing Kills Girl

BOSWELL, B.C. (CP)—An 11-year-old Cranbrook girl was killed Wednesday near this southeastern British Columbia community when struck on the head by a golf club swung by a young companion.

Police said Jerri-Ann Dixon and a friend were playing with the club in a field near the summer home of the girl's grandparents. They described the death as accidental.

'Aging' Trudeau Close To Cabinet Completion

By RON COLLISTER

OTTAWA (Special) — Pierre-Elliott Trudeau, now officially two years older than he was last week, will complete his first cabinet in the next 24 hours.

Several key people in the draft cabinet have still to give him their final decisions.

Robert Winters, former trade minister, has been offered the trade and industry portfolios blended into one.

"It is a toss of a coin whether or not he accepts or goes back into lucrative private business."

The solid speculation is that Paul Martin will switch from external to justice, en route to the bench.

Mitchell Sharp will switch from finance to external, and Edgar Benson, president of the treasury board, will become finance minister.

Several new faces may join the cabinet, including British Columbia's Ron Basford and Toronto's Don Macdonald. Another opening was made Wednesday with the resignation of Solicitor-General Larry Pennell.

Trudeau arrived back in Ottawa Wednesday after a weekend vacation in Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

While he was away, official records showed that he was 48, not 46, as claimed by his organizers during the leadership convention.

Trudeau was asked why he had not done something to correct the record of his age.

"I have never given my age," he replied. "But people have picked it up right and left."

Pressed further, he replied: "I'm confused, I think I know Continued on Page 3"
